Life Science plans in Woburn could have negative traffic impacts in Wilmington

By PATRICK BLAIS

WOBURN — Also seeking clarification on the scope of drainage system improvements, Woburn Planning Board member James Callahan recently argued a proposed New Boston Street life sciences redevelopment could carry traffic impacts in neighboring Wilmington.

During the planners most recent gathering in City Hall, Callahan suggested Cabot, Cabot, and Forbes' planned construction of an approximate 300,000 square foot biotech campus off of New Boston Street could result in commuter issues by Eames and Woburn Streets in Wilmington.

The questions about the scope of an ongoing traffic review were raised as a team of consultants is reviewing the 216 New Boston St. redevelopment plans on behalf of the city.

The planners, who are considering the petitioner's request for a myriad of special permits to construct a 175,000 square foot office and research and development (R&D) building and a new two-story pharmaceutical plant on the 14-acre industrial site, ultimately continued the public hearing until Oct. 11.

During the latest discussion, Callahan inquired about why major corridors on the Wilmington side of the New Boston Street industrial district were not included in the analysis, especially since more distant locations, such as Commerce Way and Atlantic Avenue, were included in the traffic study.

In particular, the planner is worried the city and developer's review teams are not considering the future opening of the New Boston Street bridge, which will undoubtedly spur a net increase of commuter traffic within the region.

To date, most concerns around the bridge's traffic impacts revolve around new strains along Commerce Way by the I-93 on-ramps, as the bridge has long been viewed as the key to resolving traffic problems on the Wilmington side of New Boston Street.

"The proximity [of this site] to Commerce Way and Atlantic Avenue, what's that distance?" asked Callahan.

"It's probably at least a mile or so," responded Scott Thornton, the petitioner's traffic expert.

"How about Eames and Woburn Street?" the Planning Board veteran later rhetorically asked, knowing each roadway was situated much closer to the proposed development site. "I voiced my concern about [traffic there] the last time. It's a major intersection that will come through that industrial park once that bridge is reopened."

According to Thornton, he based the petitioner's original study scope on similar reviews that have been conducted for neighboring redevelopments in recent years.

However, based upon his understanding of traffic flows in the region, the engineer doubted the life sciences campus would have any major effect on traffic patterns in Wilmington.

"We did go up by the intersection with Route 129 and it didn't have any significant impact there. So I would not expect there would be a significant impact by Eames and Woburn Street," he reasoned.

Local attorney Joseph Tarby, who is representing Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, later pointed out that neither City Engineer Jay Corey or city consultants from WorldTech have expressed concern about those particular roadways. Referencing the local zoning code, the local lawyer reminded the Planning Board that the city is empowered to expand a requested traffic study area under the peer review process.

"We're not the ones who determine the scope of the study," Tarby explained.

Currently, according to Tarby and the petitioner's team of experts, the city's peer review team has conducted its initial review of his client's various traffic, utility, and stormwater mitigation plans. Both sides are now corresponding back-and-forth to address any lingering concerns.

Some new developments in the process include an agreement by the developer to conduct a subsurface soils and water table analysis of the old industrial property, which sits in close proximity to the Industri-Plex Superfund site.

According to Allen & Major Associates engineer Nick Dellacava, Cabot, Cabot, and Forbes has already been in touch with federal officials from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to review the scope of that environmental study.

"The work will be conducted in accordance with [federal requirements] and a proposed subsurface investigation plan was submitted to the EPA on May 20, 2022. The investigation will include test borings, test pits, observation wells, and testing of soils and groundwater," he said.

According to Cabot, Cabot, and Forbes officials, the proposed life sciences project will replace an existing set of decades-old industrial uses on the property and is immediately adjacent to 675 to-be-developed housing units. Located next to Woburn's Anderson Regional Transportation Center, it lies at the intersection of a variety of key transportation infrastructure.

Select Board receives Eagle Scout, updates on mental health and RMLD

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

The Select Board approved an Eagle Scout project and received presentations from WPD's Samantha Cavanaugh and Greg Phipps of RMLD during their meeting this past Tuesday night.

Eagle Scout Candidate Noah Carriere, supported by Director of Veterans' Services Lou Cimaglia, explained his intent to install a Battlefield Cross memorial inside the Wildwood Cemetery veterans' lot. This would depict a pair of combat boots, a rifle, a helmet, and a soldier's dog tags.

He hoped that this tribute would allow space for paying respects to Wilmington's fallen soldiers and spread awareness.

He mentioned that the project would cost about $5,000 which he would collect through fundraising. The board, in addition to commenting on Carriere's dedication and commitment, asked him to send them any further information about his fundraisers so that they could help spread the word.

They then took up the Salute to Service to honor veteran Stanley R. Souza. Board member Greg Bendel included that Souza was deployed to Japan 70 years ago, serving July 1951 through December 1953, as a US Navy seaman.

Their next appointment covered updates related to behavioral health in town, from Health and Recovery Coordinator Samantha Cavanaugh and Recovery Coach Darrell Mirrione. Cavanaugh mentioned that Mirrione had joined over a year ago and had since become an asset in expanding their services.

Cavanaugh introduced a new therapy dog in training assigned to their unit. "Sometimes people in crisis respond differently to animals than to humans," she explained. She described that their vigil in September had been met with a great turnout even though it was held at an alternate location.

As for ongoing issues in Wilmington, she shared that there has been an uptick of individuals struggling with alcohol abuse, general depression, or anxiety. She mentioned another trend where lately folks are waiting until they're in crisis to reach out for help. To a question about what age group is seeing the most need right now, Cavanaugh answered that it seems to be people from their mid-thirties to mid-forties.

She thanked the partnerships her office has kept up with other town departments and the new detox facility.

Select Chair O'Connell replied that the work that they're doing is necessary and excellent. "We as a board have had a unified effort being committed to helping the community with... these programs and endeavors," she said. Board member Kevin Cairra asked Cavanaugh and Mirrione

Updates on town hall/school admin and senior center buildings

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

Building Inspector George Hooper and building Owners Project Manager Dan Pallotta shared updates with the Select Board on Tuesday night regarding the new senior center and town hall/school administration building.

Beginning with the senior center, Pallotta detailed the work that went into the current plan including looking at existing and future space needs, interior and exterior design, shape of the building, and floor plan creation. He explained that the Senior Center Building Committee had sent newsletters and mailings, created videos, and held 27 public meetings to help residents stay informed. Among next steps, he mentioned a public information session on November 2nd, and the Special Town Meeting to be followed by design development, bids for construction, building, and moving into the new building. The proposed cost for the senior center amounted to $17,264,561, not including the money appropriated for the feasibility study.

The board shared their appreciation for the efforts of the inspector, OPM, and building committee. Select Chair Judy O'Connell said that the new senior center will shape the community and be a great investment in people and families here.

The presenters next showed the plans for a 3-story town hall and school administration building, to be built into the hill below the current senior center. The floor plan includes space for town offices, school administration, and large meeting areas. It also keeps over an acre of open space and room for the 4th of July celebration in the parking lot. With similar future steps as the senior center, the town hall/school admin building would cost $36,880,766 excluding the feasibility study money already appropriated.

Board member Lilia Maselli addressed potential negativity about the town hall/school admin building in particular. "I do want to say that if it does not pass, it doesn't mean [the building's] not going to cost us money," she said. She maintained that the town and school department's employees deserve to work in better facilities.

Town Manager Jeff Hull agreed with Maselli's sentiment, naming issues with the town hall such as the heating system and roof replacement, along with mobility issues at the Roman House. He suggested that these buildings would still not suffice for their needs even with renovations.

Board member Gary DePalma indicated his opposition of the new town hall/school admin building. "I feel that we should turn down town hall until the schools and a new fire substation are

Wilmington-based employer

US Dept. of Labor, UniFirst agree to resolve alleged gender-based pay disparity

NEW KENSINGTON, PA — The U.S. Department of Labor entered into an early resolution conciliation agreement with one of the nation's largest uniform providers to pay $104,568 in back pay and interest to 37 former and current female employees in the company's New Kensington production facility to resolve alleged pay discrimination identified in a routine audit.

A compliance review by the department's Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs alleges that UniFirst paid some female employees less than their male counterparts since Jan. 1, 2021. By doing so, the employer violated Executive Order 11246, which prohibits federal contractors from discriminating in employment based on race, color, sex, gender identity or national origin.

In addition to paying back pay and interest, the Wilmington-based employer has agreed proactively to review their policies and practices and analyze base salaries of production department employees for compensation disparities.

"Our agreement with UniFirst shows the U.S. Department of Labor's commitment to combatting pay discrimination and holding federal contractors accountable if they fail to ensure equal employment opportunity," explained Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs Regional Director Sam Maiden in Philadelphia. "Federal contractors must ensure there are no gender-based disparities in compensation."

UniFirst previously entered into OFCCP conciliation agreements for alleged violations in Charlotte, North Carolina, on Jan. 20, 2017, and for alleged violations in Nashua, New Hampshire, on July 30, 2020.

"We appreciate UniFirst working with the department cooperatively to resolve the latest issue quickly, and put steps in place to prevent it from happening again," Maiden said.

Founded in 1936, UniFirst is one of North America's largest workwear and textile service companies, providing uniforms, protective clothing and custom corporate image apparel programs to customers, including federal government agencies such as the Department of Veterans Affairs, Drug Enforcement Administration, Customs and Border Protection, and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It employs approximately 14,000 employees in North America and Europe.

WHY IT'S IMPORTANT THAT TAXPAYERS KNOW AND UNDERSTAND THEIR CORRECT FILING STATUS

There are five IRS filing statuses. They generally depend on the taxpayer's marital status as of Dec. 31. However, more than one filing status may apply in certain situations. If this is the case, taxpayers can usually choose the filing status that allows them to pay the least amount of tax. When preparing and filing a tax return, the filing status affects:

- If the taxpayer is required to file a federal tax return
- If they should file a return to receive a refund
- Their standard deduction amount
- If they can claim certain credits
- The amount of tax they should pay

Here are the five filing statuses:

Single. Normally this status is for taxpayers who are unmarried, divorced or legally separated under a divorce or separate maintenance decree governed by state law.

Married filing jointly. A married taxpayers can file a joint tax return with their spouse. When a spouse passes away, the widowed spouse can usually file a joint return for that year.

Married filing separately. Married couples can choose to file separate tax returns. When doing so it may result in less tax owed than filing a joint tax return.

Head of household. Unmarried taxpayers may be able to file using this status, but special rules apply. For example, the taxpayer must have paid more than half the cost of keeping up a home for themselves and a qualifying person living in the home for half the year.

Qualifying widow(er) with dependent child. This status may apply to a taxpayer if their spouse died during one of the previous two years and they have a dependent child. Other conditions also apply.

More people now eligible to give blood or platelets

MEDFORD — The American Red Cross now invites those who spent time in the U.K., Ireland or France and have never tried to give blood due to concerns over variant Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease (vCJD) — related to mad cow disease — to give blood and help save lives.

Recently, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration updated its blood donor eligibility guidance on vCJD, eliminating the deferral for those who spent time in the U.K., Ireland and France between 1980 and 2001. In alignment with FDA changes, the Red Cross began accepting donations Oct. 3 from individuals who have not tried giving blood before due to the prior donation criteria. In combination with prior eligibility updates in 2020 for those who spent time in other European countries, this new change effectively eliminates the deferral related to vCJD for all donors.

"For many years, the Red Cross has heard from people who have spent time in these countries — often members of the military and their families — hoping for the opportunity to donate blood or platelets," said Kelly Isenor, Director of Communications. "We now welcome all donors who may have spent time in Europe and avoided blood donation as a result to join us in our lifesaving mission to help patients in need."

More blood donors — especially type O donors — are urged to donate now to prevent disruptions to essential medical care this fall. Book a time to give by using the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or by calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). As a thank-you, all who come to give Oct. 16-31, 2022, will receive a $10 e-Gift Card by email to a merchant of choice.

Changes in progress for those with a Red Cross donor record
Those who have tried to give with the Red Cross and have been previously deferred from donating will be contacted by the Red Cross once system records are updated. This deferral is more complex to remove than others as there are decades of donors in the Red Cross system who have been deferred under the previous FDA requirements. Individuals who have questions about their donor record can contact the Red Cross Donor and Client Support Center at 1-866-236-3276.

With energy prices on the rise, fire officials urge home heating safety

STOW — With home heating prices expected to rise this winter, Massachusetts fire officials are emphasizing fire safety for residents who plan to use fireplaces, woodstoves, and other solid fuel heating appliances at home.

Firefighters respond to increased heating-related fires, injuries, and carbon monoxide incidents every year in the fall and winter months. Home heating safety is important every year, but State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey and Shrewsbury Fire Chief James P. Vuona, president of the Fire Chiefs Association of Massachusetts, issued the reminder after news reports indicated an increase in oil, natural gas, and electricity prices during this winter heating season.

"We anticipate more people using a fireplace, wood stove, or other solid fuel to heat their homes this winter," said State Fire Marshal Ostroskey. "We want everyone to keep warm and keep safe. If you're burning wood, pellets, or coal, we recommend having your chimney and flue professionally inspected and cleaned first. When burning, use a screen to keep embers inside and keep anything that can burn at least three feet away on all sides. And when you're done, remember that ashes can stay hot for days. When disposing of them, shovel them into a metal bucket with a metal lid and place it outside on the ground away from the home, porch, and garage."

"Home heating equipment is the second-leading cause of residential fires and the primary source of carbon monoxide in the home," said Chief Vuona. "Having your furnace and water heater checked each year can help identify problems before they become emergencies. If you use a space heater, be sure it's listed by a nationally recognized testing laboratory like UL or Intertek/ETL. Always plug it directly into a wall outlet, not an extension cord or power strip, and keep it at least three feet from anything that can burn. Finally, no matter how you heat your home, it's important to have working smoke alarms and carbon monoxide alarms on every level. Combined with a practiced home escape plan, they're your first line of defense against deadly hazards."

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) also provides eligible households with help in paying a portion of winter heating bills. You can learn more about LIHEAP at <https://www.mass.gov/service-details/learn-about-low-income-home-energy-assistance-program-liheap>.

income-home-energy-assistance-program-liheap.

Home heating equipment causes about 1,400 residential fires each year in Massachusetts, including two fires that claimed three lives in 2021. To address this, the Department of Fire Services launched the Keep Warm, Keep Safe campaign, which provides home heating fire safety tips on flyers that can be downloaded in English, Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese, Haitian Creole, Russian, and Vietnamese at the DFS website.

Full-color Keep Warm, Keep Safe brochures in English and Spanish can also be downloaded or requested in bulk through the Massachusetts Health Promotion Clearinghouse.

Letters to the editor

Support the new Wilmington Senior Center

To the editor,
The Senior Center is thought of as a place of activities and programs but it is so much more!

Another major mission of the Senior Center is one of service to the senior population.

First there is the Case Manager. This person is responsible for one-to-one counseling, crisis intervention and support groups, referrals for homecare, and can aid in the search for alternative housing among a myriad of other responsibilities.

Of course, there are Meals on Wheels. A daily meal for those who can't easily leave their residences.

Other current services include vaccination clinics, blood pressure clinics conducted by the public health nurse, the Memory Café (currently on hold because of lack of space).

Then there is SHINE, a program that counsels participants on the ever complicated Medicare system. Also, there is tax preparation assistance, coordinating fuel assistance, senior tax write off program and a plethora of educational programs emphasizing empowerment through education.

Why should you care?

- Because the over 60 population is the fastest growing segment of the population in Wilmington

- Because the over 60 population provides a stable tax base, despite, for the most part, living on a fixed income.

- Because we are running out of room to continue all of these services

- Because you, too, will need these services sooner or later

Please allow these services to continue with confidentiality (counseling and Memory Café) and space and parking (educational programming, large group gatherings heating/cooling center).

Vote YES on Nov. 19, 2022 (9 a.m. at the high school) for a new Wilmington Senior Center.

Pls. remember to arrive early.

Sincerely,
Susanne Clarkin

Reps. Moulton, Cardenas, Stewart introduce bipartisan bill to safeguard 988 mental health emergencies lifeline

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Reps. Seth Moulton (D-Mass.), Tony Cardenas (D-Calif.), and Chris Stewart (R-Utah) have introduced the Create Accountability and Liability Against Lifeline Attacks (CALL) Act of 2022.

Since it was launched in July, the 988 lifeline has seen a 45 percent increase in call and messaging volume. Response times have kept pace with the higher call volumes.

As part of a continued effort to improve the effectiveness of 988, the CALL Act would make it illegal to intentionally obstruct the 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline and the Veterans Crisis Line.

"Less than three months after launching, the 988 Lifeline is already saving thousands of lives. It's imperative that we take proactive measures to stop any possible attempts to undermine this success," said Congressman Moulton. "Attempting to or encouraging others to disrupt 988 means depriving someone in crisis of a much-needed reprieve. The CALL Act will ensure people who need help will continue to get it quickly. I appreciate the partnership of my colleagues Tony Cardenas and Chris Stewart on this important issue."

"Congress created the 988 Lifeline for the simple purpose of getting people in crisis the help they need," said Congressman Cardenas. "Since its July launch, 988 has time and again proven to be a lifesaving resource for countless Americans, including the brave men and women who have served our nation. Anyone who intentionally gets in the way of someone receiving the care they deserve should be held accountable. I'm proud to join Congressmen Moulton and Stewart in introducing the CALL Act to prevent individuals from purposefully obstructing calls to or services from 988."

"The 988 Suicide Prevention Lifeline is an invaluable opportunity to ensure the growing number of people in a mental health crisis can get the help they need," said Congressman Stewart. "And my colleagues and I are thrilled to see this bipartisan solution making a difference, as new data shows it may have saved more than 150,000 lives in its first month of implementation. But we're also deeply disappointed to learn that an extremist group targeted the veterans crisis line with prank calls. This is a critical resource for those heroes who served our country, and to disrupt that resource is not only deplorable, but un-American. I'm proud to stand beside my Democrat colleagues in support of this swift, commonsense solution."

According to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), the month of August saw over 250,000 calls, 64,115 chats, and 40,627 texts to the 988 lifeline. The average speed of answer was 36 seconds for phone calls and 34 seconds for online chats. The average contact time for phone calls was 11 minutes, 22 minutes for chats, and an hour and 15 minutes for texts.

Last month, Reps. Moulton, Cardenas, and Stewart were alarmed by reports of attempts to obstruct the veteran's crisis line by an extremist, pro-Jan. 6 group. While the alleged attempts did not cause any disruption to the line, the CALL Act would address any similar attempts in the future.

October 9 - 15 is Fire Prevention Week

STOW — Fire Prevention Week will mark its 100th anniversary next week with a theme that reflects a major challenge in modern fire safety: "Fire won't wait. Plan your escape."

"Modern residential fires burn much faster than they did in past decades," said State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey. "Changes in building construction, manufacturing, and furnishing mean you could have less than three minutes to escape a fire at home today, compared to 15 minutes or more in the 1970s. That's why it's so important to have working smoke alarms and a practiced escape plan that includes two ways out."

Smoke Alarms
"Over 60% of Massachusetts fire deaths last year took place in the overnight hours," said State Fire Marshal Ostroskey. "Smoke alarms are your first line of defense, so be sure they're on every level of your home and working properly. When you hear that alarm, everyone at home should know it's time to get out, stay out, and call 9-1-1."

Smoke alarms should have a manufacturing date printed on the back. Alarms older than 10 years old should be replaced with new alarms that have a sealed, long-life battery. When choosing an alarm, select one from a well-known national brand that's listed by an independent lab such as UL or Intertek/ETL. Test alarms monthly to be sure they're working properly.

Home Escape Planning

"No matter how big or small your household is, every home needs an escape plan," State Fire Marshal Ostroskey said. "Consider any special needs you or your loved ones might have, including young children, older adults, and people with disabilities."

When creating your escape plan, look for two ways out of every room — and remember that one of them may be a window. Keep those escape routes clear of furniture, clutter, and other obstructions. If you have security fittings on doors or windows, be sure they can be removed or disengaged quickly from inside.

Pick a family meeting place out front a safe distance away from the house. The meeting place should be permanent, like a tree, mailbox, or light pole, and located where firefighters can easily find you.

Once you've planned your escape route, practice it at least twice a year. Try it during the day and at night so everyone is familiar with it — even if they're tired or groggy. Remember that you may have to "get low and go" in the event of smoke.

100 Years of Fire Prevention Week

Fire Prevention Week is observed annually in the week that contains Oct. 9 — the date on which Great Chicago Fire of 1871 caused most devastation. The National Fire Protection Association has sponsored and promoted Fire Prevention Week annually since 1922, making it the longest-running public health observance on record.

'Stories From the Tenants Downstairs' by Sidik Fofana

By EILEEN MACDOUGALL

"Everybody got a story/ Everybody got a tale/ Question is: Is it despair or prevail?"

This amazing deck of eight interconnected stories comes from the hearts and vernacular of the residents of a soon-to-be-gentrified building in Harlem. They're struggling with emotional and financial issues while fending off eviction notices.

The core is a group of middle school students and their paraprofessional, who not only has to deal with behavioral issues, but also with a Harvard grad first year teacher who reeks of privilege and who makes everything worse.

The theme is the brevity of triumphs and the heaviness of discouraging outcomes. This is a very memorable collection, highly recommended, comparable to Deesha Philyaw's The Secret Lives of Church Ladies.

Each story is so touchable and real and tragic.

ATLANTIS RISING

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent

Fans of sand sculpture have another great event to add to their calendars. From October 7-10, Misquamicut Beach in Westerly, Rhode Island played host to Atlantis Rising, an international sand sculpture competition. While residents may be familiar with the Hampton Beach sand sculpture event, this newest entry creates additional reasons to travel to the beach and enjoy the artistry of sand.

Organized by the South County Rhode Island tourism council, the event started with teaser sculptures located around the area, heralding the inaugural event. Ten sand artists from around the world converged on Misquamicut to compete. The event is organized by Hampton Beach sand sculpture artist Greg Grady, Sr. and his family, known as the Grady Bunch.

Artists participated from Canada, Holland, South Korea, Missouri, New Hampshire, Florida, and the Netherlands. Most of the artists who participated are world champions in sand sculpting and are artists in other mediums as well. Some of the artists also participate in the June sand sculpting championship in Hampton Beach.

The Hampton Beach sand sculpting competition started in 2000 when local sand sculpture artist Grady was commissioned by the U.S. Mint to make a giant replica of the newly commissioned New Hampshire state quarter as part of a festival. The sculpture was so warmly received that Grady was inspired to create the competition at the beach the following year.

Sand sculptures are simply sand and water. The sculptures are sprayed with a solution of school white glue and water to keep them from eroding in the wind. However, rain is good for the sculptures, according to the organizers, because it keeps the sand moist. Sculptors use forms to help achieve the significant height of the sculptures, and also install wires around the creations to keep birds from landing on them and causing damage.

The competition is a timed event and artists have five days, eight hours per day, to work on their silica statues. They are provided with 12 tons each of a special flat-grained sand from a quarry in Rhode Island. The sand is more desirable due to its stability and compact form.

▲ The sand sculptures are giant on Misquamicut Beach during the sand sculpture event, destined to be an annual event in Rhode Island, organized by the same folks that run the famous Hampton Beach sand sculpting event.

The sculptures are not actually on the beach, rather along the paved walkway, so the sculptures are accessible to all.

A highlight of the event is the creation station, where children could play in the sand and learn how to build sculptures. The event had sand sculpting demonstrations, lessons, food trucks, bands, ice sculpting, and pumpkin carving.

An Aquaman impersonator was also on hand for photos. Tickets were required for the event.

The sculptures will stay in place until removed by event organizers in a few weeks so there is still time to drive down and see these amazing works of art. Misquamicut Beach, 257 Atlantic Avenue, Westerly, Rhode Island.

Seurat to expand into full-scale production factories

WILMINGTON — Seurat Technologies — the 3D metal printing leader making manufacturing better for people and the planet — announced last week three Letters of Intent (LOI) from global manufacturers that link production volumes to revenue forecasts. Applications range from tooling, energy, transportation and more, in the industrial sector. Qualification for these programs are underway, with high-volume manufacturing targeted for next year.

These LOIs, which accumulate to 25 tons of metal parts, fill the manufacturing capacity of Seurat's pilot facility and require expansion into additional full-scale production factories. Seurat anticipates that its first production factory will be around 100,000 square feet and capable of manufacturing more than 500 tons of metal parts per year.

It will also be based in the Boston area and be powered by 100 percent green energy. As an all-electric process, Seurat's Area Printing technology has positioned itself as a leader of green transitions in manufacturing.

"Manufacturing must be closer to the customer. Having products produced in a faraway factory has clearly failed to be the best economic and environmental approach," said James DeMuth, co-founder and CEO of Seurat. "Our novel Area Printing process can scale to outcompete traditional manufacturing in every way — cost, quality, and volume, while also reducing our dependence on dirty fossil fuels. High volume orders of this magnitude are historic for the 3D metal printing industry and a tremendous step forward for the decarbonization of manufacturing."

The historic Inflation Reduction Act and CHIPS and Science Act mark a national movement to catalyze regional and economic growth while fighting climate change. Manufacturing is one of the largest emitters of greenhouse gas emissions, contributing 22 percent of total emissions in the US, which excludes the impact of shipping parts around the world. Companies need innovative solutions that decrease their carbon footprint and create a more resilient supply chain.

"Seurat's factory deployment model enables contract manufacturing to happen closer to the customer which is highly attractive to the auto industry," said Gero Corman, head of digital innovation for group production at Volkswagen AG. "Seurat's 3D printing process has the potential to produce high volume parts at cost-parity to overseas manufacturing which will provide tremendous relief to supply chains."

While the global metal manufacturing economy is estimated at $14.2 trillion, additive manufacturing (AM) is only 0.1 percent of that, as reported in the 2022 Wohlers Report. Previous AM solutions have been an alternative for high-value applications in niche markets and have a limited scope of influence. Area Printing by Seurat, however, enables access to the $2.5 trillion metal parts manufacturing market.

Seurat's mission is to utilize clean energy for all its global factory deployments. Starting in 2025, Seurat sees potential to deploy factories with a renewable micro-grid to fuel its manufacturing. Seurat's Area Printing will competitively displace traditional manufacturing technologies like machining, casting, and forging, reducing GHG emissions related to waste material and related production energy requirements in addition to freight, transportation, and warehousing. Seurat has validated its carbon footprint forecast according to ISO 14064 standards.

Seurat has raised $79 million from investors such as Capricorn's Technology Impact Fund, True Ventures, and Porsche Automobil Holding SE, and has more than 155 patents granted and pending. The 3D metal printing leader has doubled its employee headcount year-over-year and expects continued growth to meet demand.

Bob Almeida becomes 56th coach in the state to accomplish the feat

Former WHS Coach, earns his 200th win on Stoneham's sidelines

By DOUG HASTINGS
Sports Correspondent

dougahastings@gmail.com

STONEHAM -- On Friday night, the Stoneham High football team beat Melrose by a 30-13 score, improving the Spartans to 4-1 on the season, but more importantly, delivering former Wilmington High and current Stoneham High coach Bob Almeida his 200th career victory on the sidelines.

Triumph No. 200 wasn't easy as Melrose took a 7-0 lead and the game was tied at halftime before Stoneham pulled away down the stretch.

"The first half was very close," said Almeida, who still resides in Wilmington. "We did dominate the second half."

The coach admitted that he was glad to get the milestone victory out of the way as his team competes for a Middlesex League championship.

"We're concentrating on this year," Almeida laughed. "It's something that is special for me for sure, but that hanging over our heads a little bit, I just wanted to get it over with. I'm psyched that (victory No. 200) happened, but I really just wanted to move on and concentrate on coaching."

Almeida, the 56th coach in state history to win 200 games, has made four stops on the way to the historic triumph including Somerville, Wilmington, Malden Catholic and Stoneham. Inbetween Somerville and Wilmington, he was the offensive co-ordinator at Beverly High.

Following the win, and the ceremonial ice-water bath that went with it, Almeida received hundreds of messages of congratulations including many from Wilmington residents.

Of Almeida's 200 wins, 103 came in Wilmington as he guided Wildcat teams to five Cape Ann League championships in all.

"The last two weeks I had a chance to really think about all of the teams and players that I've had," he said. "I'm just so lucky to have done this for so long. I've really enjoyed the daily in and outs and grinds with the players and the coaches."

A former standout player at Somerville High and then Boston University, Almeida came to Wilmington and won his first seven games on the sidelines, starting a memorable 12-year run at WHS.

"Obviously, (Wilmington) was the start of a successful run," he said. "For twelve years, we never had a losing season, averaged nine wins a year and the kids were just so good. It was a great atmosphere, the stands were always packed, they had the best band in America, I mean there was a lot to love."

Six of Almeida's victories came on Thanksgiving morning against Tewksbury.

"It's a great Thanksgiving tradition," said Almeida.

After three years as the head coach at Somerville, with six combines wins, Almeida spent time at Beverly as an assistant, before joining Wilmington before the 1996 season.

Wilmington was Almeida's first taste of consistent winning.

"I had never experienced anything like that," Almeida said of his time with the Wildcats, which started with a 9-2 season. "We had some tough, tough kids. That first group was really special. We didn't have a lot of seniors, but all of them were impactful players. It would be impossible for me to name all of the players I coached in Wilmington, I'd be leaving people out if I did, but they were all pretty amazing. It was a lot of fun."

During his 12 seasons at WHS, Almeida compiled a record of 103-29-1, which included those five titles coming in 1999, 2000, 2004, 2006 and 2007. In the 2004 season, the Wildcats finished 10-0, and went on to lose in the first round of the playoffs to Hingham. At that time, under the old MIAA format, that was the first post-season appearance for the 'Cats since 1976.

Almeida's top assistant during his years at Wilmington, Mike Barry, who became the head coach of the Wildcats for nine seasons after Almeida left, is back with Almeida this season as Stoneham's defensive coordinator. Last year Barry didn't coach, which came after spending three seasons as the defensive coordinator at North Andover.

In 2018, on the same day and same Gillette Stadium, Almeida guided Stoneham to a Super Bowl Championship title and Barry helped NA also take home a championship title.

Almeida said he was pleased to have Barry part of his 200th victory.

"I am so thankful for all of my assistant coaches that work so hard," Almeida said. "They don't get the credit they deserve and it was so special to have Mike Barry on my staff this year for that win since he was a major part of 103 of them in Wilmington."

Almeida and his Stoneham team plays undefeated Watertown this Friday night.

"We have our hands full again this week," said Almeida.

Through the first three meets of the season, the WHS Boys Cross-Country team is off to a strong 2-1 start. Earlier in the season, they went up against Reading with from left, Brayden Gorski, Roman Moretti, Dean Ciampa, and Jameson Burns all running in a strong pack. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Cross-Country teams starting to turn a big corner

WILMINGTON -- The Wilmington High School boys and girls cross-country teams continued their hot start to the season with a league victory over Stoneham held last Thursday. But this win was far from easy.

Due to the work on the new WHS Track, head coach Joe Patrone had to come up with a new plan for the cross-country course, avoiding the normal finish line which is on the actual track. Patrone did some creative thinking, put something together at the last minute, and despite the obstacles, the boys won by a score of 15-49 and the girls also won by a 16-39 score, giving the teams respective records of 2-1 and 3-0.

"We had to run a temporary course as we were unable to run our normal course because they were working on the track," said Patrone. "We set up a three-mile course and the kids ran incredibly well."

Wilmington dominated this meet led by sophomore Dean Ciampa who was the top overall winner coming in at 17:27.8 for the three mile course. He was followed by Jameson Burns, who was right on his heels with a time of 17:28.5 and then Roman Moretti was third at 18:03.3. Coming in behind that trio included Jake Cronin (18:38.0), Gavin Dong (18:41.3) and Noah Carriere (18:44.6).

Also putting forth strong efforts included Vihbush Sivakumar (8th, 19:01.4), Brayden Gorski (11th, 19:27.9), Michael Dynan (12th, 19:52.6), David Dynan (13th, 19:52.9), Conor Burns (14th, 20:16.9), Spencer Bagtaz (15th, 20:33.3), Nathan Cardin (16th, 20:47.1), Evan Cummings (18th, 21:47.9) and Nick Samaha (19th, 21:57.7).

"The boys continue to improve and are now 2-1 on the season and 2-0 in the Middlesex Freedom Division," said Patrone. "Everyone is really running well and next week we will go up against Burlington, who is one of the top teams in the state."

On the girls side, things were a little bit tighter in terms of the score, but the Wildcats still won with ease. Addy Hunt was the top overall performer as she came in at 19:34.8. She was followed by Hannah Bryson at 20:11.9 who was second at 20:11.9. Mallory Brown was third as she rushed across the finish line at 21:12. Charlotte Kiley was fourth at 21:17.3 and then came Mia Stryhalaek, who was sixth at 22:38.0 and Bella Zaya was 14th at 26:32.1.

"Everyone ran very well.

team we are running very well and are undefeated at 3-0 overall and 2-0 in the Freedom Division. We are taking each meet one step at a time and working toward doing well at the big meets at the end of the season."

Both teams have a very busy week ahead. On Wednesday, with results not available before presstime, the Wildcats took on Burlington. This Saturday both teams will compete in the annual Glennon Twilight Invitational Meet to be held on the Cape Cod Fairgrounds, and that will

Wingate named ACC's Player of the Week

SOUTH BEND, Ind. -- Big 2-0 week for Notre Dame women's soccer means two players picking up ACC Player of the Week honors. The ACC named graduate forward Olivia Wingate its Offensive honoree and graduate goalkeeper Mackenzie Wood its Defensive. For Wingate, it marks her second weekly award on the season.

Wingate tallied six points on the week including a five-point performance in the 4-0 win over No. 3 Florida State. Wingate notched one assist in the 3-0 victory over NC State, then followed that up with two goals, one assist, against the Seminoles.

It marked her third game this season in which she's scored multiple goals as her yearly total has been ramped up to a career best nine goals. In fact, she boasts a career-high 23 points as well, which not only leads the Irish, but also ranks 12th in the country.

Wingate's first goal was a beaut, as a great spinning first touch allowed her to take off past a defender. The graduate student then used her speed and let off a rocket of a shot just outside the 18-yard box.

First of 14 feature stories on WHS Hall of Fame Inductees

Harrison epitomized being a three-sport star athlete

On November 5th, the WHS Athletic Hall of Fame Ceremony will be held at the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks. This year there's 12 athletes, one coach and two teams getting inducted. Due to that large class, we elected to run feature stories on each of the individuals/teams starting this week with Billy Harrison, and we will feature additional ones over the next four issues.

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com

The majority of the Wilmington High School Athletic Hall of Fame members are three-sport athletes. Over different periods of time so many of them peaked and dominated during their high school careers and certainly Billy Harrison from the Class of 1997, fits that mold. When it comes to three sport athletes, it's hard not to include this guy as one of the best of his generation.

Harrison earned 11 varsity letters during his time, excelling in football and baseball four years each, and then he spent three years with wrestling. He took his junior year off to concentrate on baseball, before returning to the mat as a senior, thus he would have been one of the limited few inductees with 12 varsity letters.

In his four years, he mainly played shortstop, but dazzled on the mound a few times, including defeating the reigning state champions from Reading. He along with his friend, the late Sean Kerrigan, led the team in almost every offensive category.

In wrestling, Harrison was a two-time sectional place finisher, including taking second as a sophomore, and then third as a senior, which came after taking a year off. That team finished with an 8-4-1 record, which at the time was the best in program history.

In all three sports, Harrison made his teammates better, and certainly the teams better.

He was named the Town Crier's Male Athlete of the Year in December of his senior year, and he accomplished so much in athletics, all while being an honor roll student.

"Billy is the most dedicated athlete I have seen in a long time," said former WHS Football Coach Bob Almeida back in the Athlete of the Year story. "He gives it his all, all of the time. Billy proves that he was the best back in the league. He is very deserving of everything he gets because he did everything he could for the football team. A lot of kids looked up to him."

Harrison started his football days off like so being nervous but confident."

During his sophomore season, Sullivan moved Harrison to quarterback and implemented the 'Option Offense'.

"I felt like I did it the best I could but that season the MVC was real strong and we struggled. That was the end of my quarterback days," he said.

As a junior, and the first season in the Cape Ann League, Sullivan then moved Harrison to the backfield. All he did that season was rush for 700 yards, add 216 receiving yards, throw 94 yards in the air, mostly on half-back option plays, and combine for over 1,000 yards from scrimmage. He rushed in ten touchdowns and threw a TD pass.

As a senior, he put it all together as a tailback. The 'Cats finished 9-2 with losses to North Andover and then Tewksbury in a classic game played on Thanksgiving Day morning. In that season, Harrison rushed for 1,037 yards and scored 14 touchdowns. He was the third leading scorer in all of Eastern Mass. He was named to CAL's Player of the Year, and was named to the league's all-conference team and the Lowell Sun's First All-Star team for the second straight year.

In his final two seasons, he scored 25 touchdowns, had well over 2,000 yards from scrimmage, including almost 1,800 on the ground.

He also played in the defensive secondary, and returned kick-offs and punts.

"The few years we were in the Cape Ann League were more successful. We had some great athletes on the field like (Sean) Kerrigan, (Jamie) Campbell, (Patrick and Mike) O'Toole and (Richie) Gillis," said Harrison. "I loved playing on that defense with those guys. It was just fun to watch everyone fly around and compete. The Ipswich game is one game I remember. We won the game 14-0 and it was a hard fought game. I remember running for a score and also throwing Dickie Gillis a half back option pass that was a touchdown which put the icing on the cake for that game."

After that incredible football season as a senior, Harrison went back out for wrestling, two years removed from that second place finish at the sectionals. He came back and looked as if he never missed a beat. In the 160-pound division, he finished third at the Sons of Italy Tournament, second at the Cape Ann League Championships and then was third at the Division 3 sectionals.

"Wrestling was new to me but I felt like I was too small to play basketball so I gave it a shot," recalled Harrison.

"Obviously it's a tough physical sport with a lot of conditioning during practice. (As a senior) I won the Pentucket tournament and finished runner-up in the Cape Ann League tournament. Honestly what I remember the most, was having to wrestle Jamie Campbell my senior year which was his junior year for the varsity spot at 160 pounds. That was the toughest wrestling match I ever had and I beat him only by a little."

His final season in a Wildcat uniform came in the spring with baseball. He returned for his fourth season and after missing the state tournament by one win the year before, the '97 team knew it had a lot of talent and couldn't waste the opportunity.

"We struggled in baseball for the first three years and then had a good run out of my senior year," he said. "I remember starting shortstop as a freshman which again felt like an honor and playing there all four years. Again senior year, surrounded by a lot of good athletes we did make it to the post-season which was a good accomplishment for us."

The 'Cats finished that season with a 13-7 overall record, which included a 1-1 mark in the playoffs, first beating Savio Prep before losing to Ipswich. Certainly the Savio win was something the team will always remember, but so was the regular season win over Reading, coming at the annual Memorial Day Tournament.

"I remember that Reading game. I think I pitched a complete game and they were really good that year. I pulled a rabbit out of the hat because I wasn't really a pitcher but things worked out for me that day," said Harrison.

Over his four-year career in baseball, Harrison led the team in average and stolen bases in each season, usually batting in the high .300's or low .400's. He was named to the Cape Ann League All-Conference squad as a both a junior and senior.

"Billy is certainly one of the best hitters I have coached in quite a few years," said the late Dick Scanlon back during that season. "Defensively, he plays shortstop and often makes the sensational plays in which you ooh and ahh over."

During his entire athletic career at WHS, Harrison played for four outstanding coaches, including Scanlon, who has been enshrined in the HOF for over two decades now, Mike Pimental who is joining Harrison into this year's class, as well as Sullivan and Almeida with football.

"The coaches I played for were all very good in their own unique way. I respected all of those coaches And they all did their best to get the most out of me as an athlete and a human being," said Harrison.

After high school, Harrison played four years as a middle infielder at Stonehill College. In 2000, the team won the NE-10 regular season and tournament championship titles, falling one game shy of a trip to the NCAA Division 2 World Series. He also played a few years of football at Stonehill. Now 20 years later, his playing days have ended, and he resides in Tewksbury with his wife and their two children.

"(William IV) is my boy he is twelve years old and Brooke is my daughter and she is ten years old and I'm married to my lovely wife Meghan. I live in Tewksbury and I am a union carpenter in Boston," he said.

Come November 5th, Harrison's wife and children will get to see him get officially inducted into the WHS Athletic Hall of Fame as one of the school's best athletes in its 85-year history.

"I would thank all of the coaches mentioned that took time to try to make me a better player and person. I would thank my family for their support and love," said Harrison.

Blessed with a tremendous amount of speed, agility, athleticism, toughness and a fantastic set of hands, Harrison's career was split in half with two years in the Merrimack Valley Conference and the last two in the Cape Ann League. In football, he went from being a quarterback and running the option offense against Chelmsford and Central Catholic to becoming the Cape Ann League's Most Valuable Player as a senior, as a running back. That team finished 9-2 whereas the previous three teams had eight combined wins.

In baseball, during his senior year, he helped the team reach the state tournament for the first time.

many other people, involved in Wilmington Pop Warner, which back during those days had a lot more teams and hundreds and hundreds of kids competing. Harrison said that during his freshman year of high school, while playing for then head coach Gerry Sullivan, he was still involved in WPW. That year, Harrison said, was pretty intimidating.

"What I remember about my first few years was that as a freshman I still played Pop Warner, which ended before high school football ended so I was able to transition," he said. "I returned kickoffs in the Turkey Day game against Tewksbury as a freshman. I remember

Under 8 team blanks Revere

The U8 Wilmington Wildcats Youth Football Team defeated Revere 6-0 in an overtime nailbiter played Sunday at Glen Road Field in Wilmington.

After winning the coin toss in overtime, the Wildcats elected to start with the football on the Revere 10-yard line and have the first possession of OT. Tyler Noble scored the lone touchdown of the game on a five-yard tough run during this possession.

The Wildcats ferocious defense then took the field and needed to keep Revere out of the endzone to win the game. On 4th-and-goal from the 1-yard line, the Wildcat defense came up clutch with a big stop to seal the win earning the Wildcats their second shutout of the season.

The Wildcat defense was the story of this game! They forced two turnovers including an impressive interception by Tyler Noble as well as a fumble recovery by Kody Castellano.

Other key contributors to the Wildcats defense were Dylan Alvarado, Eoghan Barry, Jacob Beaudoin, Gino Borges, Brendan Gemelli, Cole Gifford, Cameron Joseph, Aiden Layton, Matty Marino, Biovany Noel, Jackson Walton, and Finn Warford. In addition to the great defensive play, the Wildcats offense had key blocks from Michael Annarelli, Liam Malloy, Duran McDonald, and Spencer McSweeney.

The win inches the U8 Wildcats closer to a play-off berth! The coaching staff, that includes head coach Nick Castellano and assistants Angel Alvarado, Dan Barry, Derrick Beaudoin, Dan Gemelli, Curtis Gifford, and Ryan Layton (Defensive Coordinator), has done a tremendous job this season.

The Wildcats are now 3-2 and will next play home against Lawrence at Glen Road Field on Sunday, October 16th at 9:30am.

Football team drops to 0-5; Coach says it's back to fundamentals

Learning curve for Wildcats getting bigger

WILMINGTON

Heading into this season, Wilmington High School Football Coach Craig Turner knew that he had a young and inexperienced team and knew that there would be a learning curve. Through five games this season, the 'Cats have really struggled with that learning curve. While the team has shown tremendous effort with non-stop hustle from the beginning to the end of every game, the mistakes continue to mount, and so have the losses.

On Friday night, Watertown dominated play from the opening drive until the end of the third quarter before the reserve players came in. The 40-20 victory for the Raiders improve their record to 5-0, while the 'Cats fell to 0-5.

It's the toughest start for a Wilmington team since 1994, when the 'Cats started out 0-7 before beating Dracut in week eight.

"They try really hard, honestly. We're just not very disciplined and we don't play smart football. I've said it to the kids that we have had a tough schedule, Wilmington has been very tough to beat this year. We continue to do things our own way and not doing the things that we have been taught. We're re-creating things on the fly that don't exist and it's stuff that we do pretty well in at practice, but then we do completely different stuff on Fridays," said Turner. "It's very frustrating on the coaching staff, but we're going to continue to work at it. They do play hard but we have eight guys doing what they are taught and we have three guys doing something completely different. In the game of football, it always seems to find you when you do that stuff. Hopefully we can clean it up. Lord knows we are trying. We just continue to make the same mistakes over and over again.

"We told the kids that it's at the point of the season where it comes to a point where we have given the seniors and some of the older kids a lot of rope, so if you're not figuring it out, not being consistent or not playing hard, we've got to go in a different direction. Whether you are a senior, junior or whatever, we have to figure this out. I'd rather take my lumps with a young kid who may not be physically as ready but will gain the experience and do what they are taught as opposed to a kid who is physically ready but is just doing whatever they want out there."

Watertown jumped out to a 28-0 halftime lead. The combination of quarterback Johnny Cacace and wide out Rafael Magalhaes couldn't be stopped. Cacace scored the first touchdown on a 1-yard run, and then followed by three straight TD passes, the first two to Magalhaes and the last one of the half to Vincent Wolff. On the night, Cacace was perfect, completing 8-of-8 passes for 129 yards, while he also added 42 rushing yards.

On the season, opposing teams have completed 70 percent of its passes and quarterbacks have thrown 11 touchdown passes against Wilmington in five games.

"(Our secondary is) the bulk of the problem. We're making up coverages on the fly. It's stuff we don't (coach). We're just trying to find four guys who will do what we're asking them to do. It's one of those things where we have one guy playing man and the rest of the guys are doing something completely different or vice versa. (During Friday's game) we were playing zone but we were not going where we were supposed to be going to go. We were not covering what we were supposed to be covering. Our eyes were not where they were supposed to be. Obviously (playing zone) wasn't working so we changed it to man-to-man across the board and even that we had guys covering players they weren't supposed to be covering. We're going to keep working at it. It's been a struggle for us since the summer during the 7-on-7s.

"That's why we struggle so much on third downs. We have teams with third-and-nine or third-and-fifteen and we can't get off the field. We started the season off pretty good on third down and we have progressively gotten worse to the point where now where we should be getting off the field like 66 percent of the time and now we're down to about 35 percent of the time. That's a bad, bad drop."

The problems are certainly not just in the secondary. Upfront, both the offensive and defensive line have struggled. On Friday, that was the case early on, but the drive to start the third quarter, Wilmington did a great job but the drive ended with a turnover.

"We said all week that (Watertown) had a big line, a much bigger and stronger line than us. We've gotten used to it because it's every week," said Turner. "(Despite that) we kind of liked the match-up because their linemen kind of play tall and don't necessarily come off the ball as hard as say Melrose does. We said to the kids all week that if you're satisfied with just getting up there and bumping bellies with your guy and you're thinking that you have him blocked -- and that's what they want you to do because they are bigger Ali Aboukal (52) and Clyde Lambert (60 going against Nick Gallagher) block for their teammate Michael Lawler, who runs through the nice gap during the team's season opening loss to Arlington Catholic. and stronger. -- then they are just going to stand you up in the hole, make you think that you have them blocked and they are just going to throw you off and go and make a play. We worked all week saying that we had to come off the ball, we need to drive our feet, we need to get movement on these guys because they aren't going to look to move and we didn't. We were just catching them, and were hoping to hang on for dear life.

"And again just like the problems we have with our secondary, we have guys out there recreating plays like stuff you wouldn't believe. Stuff that we put it back on August 19th. It's very frustrating and we need to get that fixed. If I'm being completely honest, I don't know the answer because like I said it's stuff that we put it on August 19th and it's the basis of our offense and we're still messing up the rules.

"Just like defense, we need to find guys who are going to do it, regardless of their age. We need to find guys who can do it because it's the only thing that will give us a chance. If we're not good enough, than we're not good enough and I'll live with that, but if we just continue to do things that we're not supposed to be doing, that's where I struggle."

On top of the inconsistencies with the secondary and line play, the third biggest issue is turnovers. On Friday, the 'Cats turned the ball over twice, one interception and another fumble. On the season, the team has turned the ball over 16 times, eight interceptions and eight fumbles, that's over three a game. There were a ton of exchange problems too on Friday, which certainly made things tougher for the signal-callers.

"(Quarterback Jacob) Roque has gotten better every week. I think that was a pretty poor interception that he threw and I know he would say that too," said Turner. "If you look at the Silver Lining we only had one interception this week so we're getting better at holding onto the ball I guess -- we still fumbled it once and had that interception.

"Watertown was better than what I had given them credit for. They are pretty talented and I looked at their roster afterwards and every single one of their big-time players has been starting for them since they were sophomores. They are a lot like us last year. I put would Wakefield in that category, too.

"I think we have talent that can match up with those guys, we're just so wildly inconsistent in terms of doing what we're supposed to be doing. Once we start doing that, I think we'll be competitive. We play hard and we care and that's what also makes it frustrating is that we do play hard and we do care, but we are our own worst enemy. Until we get our own stuff fixed, we're not going to win a game. We won't win until we can play consistent, fundamental football."

Trailing by that 28-0 halftime score, Watertown made it 34-0 after Magalhaes caught a 33-yard touchdown pass, his third of the night, to go along with four PAT kicks.

After that, Roque completed a perfectly executed bubble screen to Michael Lawler, who caught the pass inbetween several defenders, before bursting down the sideline with great speed for the 72-yard touchdown.

Wilmington's Gus Lambert then recovered an onside kick, giving the 'Cats the ball back on their own 30. From there, thanks to three penalties for a combined 37 yards, and some smaller runs, Wilmington moved the ball up the field and Lawler closed out the drive by running one in from three yards out. Roque then ran in the conversion to make it 34-14.

On the next scrimmage play, Watertown's Payton Andrade ended any thoughts of a miracle comeback with a 68-yard touchdown run.

Later in the fourth quarter, with the reserve players in, back-up quarterback Braedon Almas did a real nice job moving the ball, completing 2-of-3 passes for 37 yards, and that drive was capped off by a 4-yard touchdown run by Nick Iascone.

Wilmington has three regular season league games left to try to notch a win, or two or three and it starts with Burlington on Friday.

"The last two weeks they have kind of struggled but they played some good football teams losing to Watertown and Wakefield," said Turner of the Red Devils. "I don't much about them in terms of their early schedule as I know they beat Westboro and I know nothing about Westboro. What I will say is their coach George Balian we know well as he was the defensive co-ordinator at Stoneham for a while so we have been going up against him for a while so I don't think it'll be too much of a secret of what we're going to see from them defensively.

"Offensively, they have been kind of all over the map. They started off in Power-I stuff at the beginning but have slowly gone to more spread stuff and I don't know if that's because of injuries or what have you. They have some guys who can make some plays.

"I think if we can take care of the ball and play better in the secondary, we'll have a shot. I've said to the kids that it really doesn't matter who we play right now. If we don't get better, it doesn't matter. We have had these coverages set in since late August and we have given some of the kids plenty of chances, so right now it's a matter of finding someone else or something else. That's our job as coaches. We have to keep going at it until we find something that will work and whether that's a combination of kids, a combination of schemes, we know that we're just going to keep working at it."

Still ranked within the top-32 of the latest power rankings

Wilmington continues to improve, grabs a tie against Tanners

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - The good news for the Wilmington High School Boys Soccer team is they came away with a point in two games this past week, ending in a 1-1 tie with Woburn before losing to a strong Division 1 foe in Belmont, 3-0 on Monday. While the 0-1-1 week puts Wilmington at 1-7-2 overall, they still remain in the hunt for a playoff spot, seeded No. 25 in Tuesday's MIAA Division 3 Power Rankings.

"We'll take the point and move on. We are exactly where we were last week when the MIAA released the power rankings, we are 20th overall so we're going to continue to tread water," said Scanlon after last Friday's tie, and before the new rankings were released.

In the game with Woburn, Wilmington certainly carried play and possession and had much more scoring chances than the Tanners. The 'Cats scored their lone goal just two minutes in as Ben Marvin took his usual long throw-in and found Dillon McGrath, who drove it home to take the very quick 1-0 lead.

In the second half, Woburn started to generate some offensive runs, the first led to an indirect kick which was cleared out and the second led to a penalty kick as a Wildcat player was called for a handball inside the six-yard box. Woburn's Diogo Maimonge took the penalty kick and scored going to the top right hand corner to tie the game up at 1-1.

After that the game completely belonged to Wilmington. Due to some injuries, Scanlon moved Ryan Willson up to attack and he had a number of chances, including several connections with Dillon McGrath. The actual best scoring chance came off a corner kid. McGrath took it and he lofted a nice kick to the front post area and the Tanners' goalie got a hand on it while in traffic and the ball bounced around before being cleared out leading to what turned out to be a third straight corner kick. This one was cleared right away.

Willson had two more bids in the final few minutes, the first on a shot from the left side which was covered up and then real late in the game, he took the ball on the left side, beat a defender and cut on, but his shot just missed the short side.

"I thought we had the run of the play, most of the game. It's the lack of finishing. You could see it, we had plenty of chances and it sounds like a broken record. Not having Danny (Lagunilla) in the line-up is a big loss for us as he can convert (on scoring chances). Not having Ethan (Kennedy) in the line-up also hurt us. He really stabilizes the middle of the field for us. We're playing better but it's just frustrating when you can't score in these situations. It's very frustrating," said Scanlon.

On Monday, Wilmington was defeated by Belmont,

The 'Cats were back in action on Wednesday against Wakefield with results not known as of presstime. On Saturday, they will host Stoneham at 5:15 as part of the double-header fundraising event with the girls teams following at 7. Then on Wednesday, Wilmington will travel to Watertown.

The 'Cats lost to Wakefield, 4-1, lost to Stoneham 2-0 and beat Watertown, 3-1. A win or especially two would really be a boost for the team in the Power Rankings.

Girls Soccer team's defense tested twice with two star players

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - Playing in the Middlesex League is hard enough, but competing against two of the best players around, in the same week, is even more difficult.

This past week, the Wilmington High School Girls' Soccer team traveled to Woburn last Thursday to face a much improved Tanners' team led by senior Cyndea LaBissiere, who will be heading to play Division 1 soccer next fall at Lehigh University. Then on Monday, the 'Cats hosted Belmont, who is an extremely talented team despite their 5-3-1 record, and are led by freshman Sadie Kabrhel, whose speed alone - nevermind her skills - makes her one of the best players in this area for sure.

The 0-1-1 week puts Wilmington at 3-5-3 overall.

In the first go-around against the Tanners, freshman Erin McCarthy did a tremendous job shadowing LaBissiere. In the second one, Kabrhel's speed created a lot of headaches for Wilmington as she figured in both goals, but that came before, during and after McCarthy and Ali Ganley had the task of shadowing her.

"The scouting report that we had, we knew that (Kabrhel) was going to be a problem, so we did what we did against Woburn in the game before and man marked (LaBissiere), who has a scholarship to play next year at Lehigh University," said Wildcat head coach Sue Hendee. "(LaBissiere is a) very, very fast but she's a much different player than (Kabrhel). This girl was very, very difficult to contain. Even with marking her specifically the entire game, you just can't give her any opportunities.

"We had Erin starting out because she had done such a great job shutting down the Woburn girl, who is big and strong and very, very fast. Erin did such a phenomenal job, but (LaBissiere) is not quite as active as (Kabrhel) is - when the ball is at her feet, she's incredible, but (Kabrhel) works to get the ball to her feet. She was just very, very tough to contain. She's the best player that I have seen in this league and she's only a freshman."

Wilmington's offense actually came out real strong in the early goings of the Belmont game. Molly MacDonald sent a nice pass ahead to her sister Kate, who came off the right side and took a shot which was caught by the Marauders' goalie, face high.

Belmont quickly got possession after that and marched down the field with quick passes. Lily Duffy came off the right side and cut to the middle but was broken up by Wildcats senior defender Colleen Baldi. The ball came loose and quickly Kabrhel got it and took a quick shot by Wildcat keeper Ashley Mercier made a nice diving save to her right to keep the game scoreless.

With under 25 minutes to go in the first half, Kabrhel came down the right side with the ball, moved in and took a shot which was saved, but the rebound was put home by Duffy for what proved to be the game winner.

With 30 minutes left in the second half, Kabrhel exploded through the 'Cats defense to chase down a loose ball, before collecting it on her foot and beautifully placing a shot to the low left corner.

"I feel like we threw everything we could at them. We tried changing our line-up, we tried marking different people and I thought Ali Ganley did a really nice job of just frustrating her. Ali is more of an aggressive player and we made that initial change and it helped," said Hendee. "That's a good team and their record doesn't indicate that. This whole league has been crazy with the scores and everything is just upside down. You never know what's going to happen. Woburn scored four goals on Belmont. I have never seen the Middlesex League with such close and unpredictable scores, ever.

"We come in with the philosophy that anything can happen because anything can happen. We've got to approach Wakefield as a must win game instead of a game against a team that we beat 5-0 earlier in the season. Wakefield just beat Belmont, 4-2, so it's just crazy."

In the Woburn game, Ganley scored the lone goal with an assist going to Alle Delgenio.

On Tuesday, the latest MIAA Power Rankings came out and in Division 2, Wilmington ranks No. 22. The top 32 automatically make it as well as any team that finishes .500 or better.

Wilmington will travel to face Wakefield on Thursday night at 6 pm, before hosting Stoneham on Saturday night at 7 pm, which is part of the double-header fundraising game, with the boys teams playing first at 5:15.

Tenth annual Soccer Fundraising Games, Saturday

On Saturday, the 10th annual Wilmington and Stoneham 'Kick Cancer Night' which benefits the Hope and Friendship Metastatic Breast Cancer Foundation, will take place starting at 2 pm and lasting through the evening.

Held at Wilmington High, the JV Girls game will start at 2 pm, followed by the JV Boys at 3:30. The varsity boys will follow at 5:15 and then the varsity girls teams will play at 7.

All students wearing their WYSA jersey or anything pink will be allowed in to the game for free. There will be raffles and a bake sale, with all proceeds from the game being donated to the Hope and Friendship Foundation.

In the first handful of years of this event, it was just the Girls teams facing off against one another with the money going to the Susan G. Komen for a Cure Foundation. But over the last six years, the funds raised, along with the addition of the two boys' teams facing one another as part of this event, have gone to Hope and Friendship. Back in 2018, the two girls' teams raised $1,300.

In 2015, Hope and Friendship opened its doors in Wilmington, and supports metastatic breast cancer-specific research and offers all of their programs and services at no cost - hopeandfriendship.org.

The Foundation was started by Heather LoRe a Nurse Practitioner in Northeastern Massachusetts. Treated with mastectomy, chemotherapy and radiation for Stage IIB Breast Cancer in 2004, LoRe was diagnosed with Metastatic (Stage IV) Breast Cancer, the terminal form of the disease, in 2008.

Field Hockey team has a bit of an 'off week', looks to rebound

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - It certainly wasn't the greatest of weeks for the Wilmington High School Field Hockey team, but there's enough time left in the season to still make some things happen.

The Wildcats ended in a disappointing 1-1 tie with Woburn last Thursday before Belmont came to town on Monday and dominated with a 6-0 victory.

The 0-1-1 week puts Wilmington at 3-9-1 and also knocked them out of the top 32 spots of the MIAA Division 3 Power Rankings. The top 32 teams, along with those teams with a .500 record or better, will qualify for next month's state tournament.

Head coach Leanne Ebert certainly knows that Belmont's a highly touted Division 1 team, and despite the score, there were several things she was happy with.

"We played hard when we had (offensive) corners. I thought our corners looked good but we weren't able to capitalize on them," she said. "They stayed controlled, they got the plays off and so you have to look at the positives and under pressure, they were able to follow through and finish those plays, and I thought that was a positive.

"We played a strong team. It's tough but now we just have to work hard at practice (on Tuesday) and get ready for Wakefield on Wednesday and then work hard on Thursday to get ready for Stoneham on Friday. We are focusing in on what's ahead and now what has happened behind us."

Before that loss to Belmont, Wilmington played another Liberty Division team with Woburn and ended in a tie. Ebert said that the team just had an 'off day.'

"Woburn was a tough game for us. I'm not really sure why either. It was just an off game for us. It was hot, so I will say that I don't think they were quite ready for the heat part of it but they played in the heat before so not sure what was going on. They recognized that they were a little bit off (during Friday's) practice. That was a bit frustrating to end (in a tie)," she said.

Wilmington trailed 1-0 before Alexis Melvin tied it up. That was her fourth goal of the season, which leads the team as three others have one each.

"Alexis has really come on. I think she's gained a little bit more confidence.

We have a young varsity team and this is her first year on varsity but she's a junior so that can be difficult," said Ebert. "We have a heavy senior team again so that can be difficult. She's definitely has a nose for the net, she has come into herself with her speed and her ability. She has a nice long reach so it's all coming together for her and it's been fun to watch."

Wilmington can get back on track this week, first with a game against Wakefield held on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime. In the first meeting, the Warriors came away with a 2-1 win. On Friday night at 6, the 'Cats will host Stoneham, and Wilmington won the first round, 1-0.

On Tuesday, the 'Cats will host the undefeated Watertown Raiders, who won 7-0 in the first match-up.

Two wins or a win and a tie this week should push the 'Cats back into the top-32.

"They are hard workers, they continue to come ready to practice and games and putting all of their effort in, so I really can't ask for more than that," said Ebert.

Volleyball team takes a set from reigning D4 State Champs

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - On Tuesday morning, the MIAA released its latest Power Rankings and much like the rest of the sports at Wilmington High, the volleyball team's opponents are everywhere in each of the divisions.

In Division 1, four teams are in the top four, and two more (one yet to play) are on the bubble. In Division 2, four more teams are in the top 26. Then in Division 4, there's two more, including the No. 1 team, Ipswich, the defending state champions, who the 'Cats hosted last Thursday night.

And while the Tigers may have come away with a 3-1 victory (25-16, 25-15, 15-25 and 25-9), the 'Cats put forth their best effort and overall performance to this point of the season.

"It's strange that the fourth set was our lowest score, which came after we won the third set. I don't know how that happened," said head coach Lauren Donoghue. "Losing team was probably a part of that and we lost some momentum there for a bit. The referee just said to me that the third set is the way that we need to play, and can play.

"We can play like that, but it was disappointing to play like that and then come into the fourth set and lose like we did. Nothing changed except that we didn't start the set off serving the ball."

Besides the fourth set let-down, the 'Cats (1-10) played exceptionally well, much more fundamentally sound on offense and defense.

"Overall, it wasn't like it was one player in particular for us that carried us that third set win or the points that we got in the other sets, we got the points from everyone covering the things that we haven't been covering but not stopping and playing," said Donoghue. "Not giving up on each other is a big thing for us. We took a set off the returning (Division 4 state champions) and I think that proves that coming off the Melrose match where we really were competing with them, it feels like to me that playing a non-league game and being competitive with them is worth it."

In the first set, Wilmington was right there all along, trailing 6-5, 13-12 and tied up at 14-14, 15-15, before Ipswich pulled away scoring nine of the last ten points to win the first set.

In the second set, Wilmington had a 4-2 lead before Ipswich rallied and went up 7-5 and 12-8, before breaking it open with six straight points to lead 21-11, and cruised the rest of the way.

In those two sets, playing very well all-around was Maria Cummings.

"I had been mixing her in as a libero a little bit and in my opinion today was the best that she has played defensively all season and she was not playing libero," said Donoghue. "I kind of mixed that up a little bit. Gabby played there a little bit last year and I'm not sure if she was necessarily expecting to play there this year. I thought Maria played extremely well."

The third set was completely different. Led by the serving of co-captain Mia Vestal, the 'Cats stormed off to a 7-0 lead behind her seven straight service points. Ipswich slowly crept back in and trailed 11-7 and then 15-12, but then Sofia Scalfani and Maddie McCarron combined for six service points to open things up and Wilmington led 23-13 before closing it out at 25-15.

"Mia played better defensively than she has in the previous few games and obviously her serving is great, it's consistent. Maddie also has a good serving run today," said Donoghue. "We had a couple of them with Sofia Scalfani had some really good serves. Shaylan (Bresnahan) had a good run, too. That helped a lot with the momentum and getting some points.

Annabelle (Lozzi) did well and played aggressively from the front row. This is her first varsity season and her blocking has been and she's gotten a lot better hitting.

"I also thought Sloane McIntyre continued to show that she's getting a lot better lately. Her defense has been improving."

Before Thursday's loss, Wilmington had a seven day break from its previous game and the coach said the team worked on so many things during that time, including much needed team chemistry.

"Up until this point, I didn't feel like they were playing as a team. We had a week off and I think that helped a lot and they have seemed to come together during this break," she said. "The last couple of practices they have improved, they have connected more as a team and I do think that made a big difference at least from what I saw tonight. They were giving up on balls and giving up on each other prior to tonight and I do think that week of practice made a difference in picking up things. There were balls that they were running after that two weeks ago you wouldn't have seen people running after. I said to them, 'this is the team that I've been waiting to see play'. The way they played tonight was a lot, a lot better."

On Friday, Wilmington lost to a strong Burlington (9-2) team, 3-0. On Tuesday, the 'Cats faced Lexington and were swept in three sets, 25-13, 25-20 and 25-15 to fall to 1-11.

This week, the team will be back in action with a trip to Woburn (9-3) on Thursday, home against Belmont (5-6) on Monday and then at Wakefield (5-8) on Wednesday.

If Wilmington can pull out a win or two, they would certainly make the jump back into the top-32 teams in the power rankings.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Rams come away with hard earned tie; now 6-3-2 on season

What a difference a few weeks makes.

The Shawsheen Tech girls soccer team lost to Essex Tech on Sept. 13 by a 4-0 score.

On Saturday, in a rematch during Shawsheen's Homecoming weekend, the Rams earned a 1-1 tie against Essex, moving Shawsheen to 6-3-2 on the season.

With five matches left, Shawsheen needs just two more points to qualify for the state tournament.

"That was quite a turnaround," said Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud.

It was nearly a Ram victory.

At the 10-minute mark of the first half, Shawsheen's Lindsay McCarthy sent a beautiful free kick into the top corner of the Essex goal to put the Rams in front.

About five minutes later, Essex would tie the score.

The visitors had several chances to take the lead in the second half, but a defense led by sophomore goalie Sydney MacPherson of Wilmington, who made 17 saves, was able to earn the tie.

"The defense did a great job," said Michaud.

Other defensive standouts included senior captain Makayla Melanson of Tewksbury, senior captain Kerry Brown, senior Lindsay McCarthy, sophomore Skylar Driscoll of Wilmington and Alex Burke.

Kendra Minghella of Tewksbury had Shawsheen's best scoring chance in the second half, pushing a shot just over the Essex goal.

Riley Rourke of Wilmington, Celia Vindice of Wilmington, Maria Cafaro, Alexis LeBlanc of Wilmington, Judith Sloman, Kelsey Giordano and Caitlyn Aprile also contributed to the offense.

Before Essex, the Rams topped Northeast Regional, 5-2.

Since starting the season 1-2, Shawsheen is 6-1-2 in its last nine matches.

The season is a nice bounce back from last fall for the Rams.

"We only graduated two last year, so it's a pretty good returning team," said Michaud. "Last year, we didn't win one game in the first half of the season and I talked to them mid-way through the season and said what can we do here? We ended up winning three games and tied one and ended up doing well at the end of the season. They had that confidence."

Shawsheen hosted Bedford on Tuesday and visits Mystic Valley on Thursday afternoon.

BOYS SOCCER

The six-game unbeaten streak of the Shawsheen Tech boys soccer team came to an end on Saturday during Shawsheen's Homecoming Weekend, but the news wasn't all bad for the Rams.

Despite a 4-0 loss to visiting Greater Lowell, the Rams still played well and had a 5-4-2 overall record with six matches left on the regular-season schedule.

"Greater Lowell was a very good team," said Ram coach Tom Severo after the match. "If we could have kept it 1-0 in the first half, we would have had a better showing in the second half, but no complaints. They were just better than us."

The Gryphons scored in the first minute of the match and then added a second goal with only a few seconds remaining in the first half. The second Greater Lowell goal came only a few seconds after a series of three corner kicks by Shawsheen at the other end of the field.

Greater Lowell scored twice more in the second half.

Despite the final score, the Rams played well defensively for most of the day.

"Our whole defense is very good," said Severo. "Generally, that is the strength of our team."

Senior Cam Camelio of Tewksbury, senior John MacEachern, senior Chris O'Connor, senior Tom Robenek, junior Corey Kirchner and sophomores Jayden Perez and Ethan Melanson, both of Tewksbury, all did well in the backfield in front of standout junior keeper Nick Gerasimov.

On offense, senior Noah Rizzo of Tewksbury, junior Shane MacArthur and senior Tyler Francois played well along with junior Brian Duhamel and sophomores Shaun Duhamel and Nico Georgoulis.

Before Greater Lowell, Shawsheen defeated Minuteman Regional in Lexington, 3-1.

Melanson, Pinto and senior Joe Woodward had assists.

Georgoulis, Rizzo and senior Evan Pinto of Wilmington had Shawsheen goals in the victory.

Severo said once his banged up team gets completely healthy, the Rams will be a tough squad to content with.

"I think we're a good team," Severo said. "We don't have great results at this point, but hopefully by the end of the season, we're going to be in the tournament and we'll be a tough out."

After hosting Whittier Tech on Tuesday, Shawsheen plays Mystic Valley on Thursday in Billerica at 4 p.m.

GOLF

The Shawsheen Tech golf team beat Northeast Regional on Friday at the Patriot Golf course by a score of 162-82.

The win improved the Rams to 14-1.

Low medalists for the Rams were Matt Tramonte with 33 points and Liam Milne with 31 points and both scoring 38s.

Also scoring for the team was Colin Lawson with a 40 and 28 points, Larry Cullity with a 41 and 24 points, Max Carpenter with a 42 and 24 points and Mike Giordano with a 42 and 22 points.

On Tuesday, the Rams upped their record to 15-1 with a 184-96 win over Greater Lawrence. The score of 184 was the team's best of the season.

Low medalist for the Rams was Tyler Tsoukalas with a 34 and 38 points.

Also scoring for the Rams were: Matt Tramonte with a 37 and 32 points; Colin Lawson with a 38 and 30 points; Liam Milne with a 38 and 30 points; Larry Cullity with a 38 and 30 points and Max Carpenter with a 42 and 24 points.

The Rams also beat Lowell Catholic last Thursday at the Patriot Golf Course by a score of 160-83. That was the team's 13th win of the season.

VOLLEYBALL

Low medalist for the Rams was Tramonte with a 36 and 34 points.

Chipping in with solid performances was Milne with a 38 and 30 points, Derek Nazzaro with a 39 and 28 points, Tyler Tsoukalas with a 41 and 24 points and Lawson with a 42 and 22 points.

Sean Schlehuber added a 43 and 22 points.

Shawsheen's golfers also had a nice finish in the Vocational Tournament at the Acushnet River Valley Golf Course earlier last week, placing second out of 25 teams with a total score for four players with a 319.

Tramonte had the best Ram score with a 77, Milne added a 78, Tsoukalas chipped in with an 82 and Carpenter shot an 82.

The Rams played in a tri-match against non-league opponents Bedford and Somerville on Wednesday. On Thursday, they will end the regular season with a match against Essex Tech. A win there, would give the Rams their 18th straight league championship title.

The Shawsheen Tech volleyball team advanced its record to 7-3 with a 3-1 win against Greater Lowell on Oct. 5 and a win against Mystic Valley on Oct. 7.

Standouts for Shawsheen were senior libero Gabby DiSalvo of Tewksbury with 13 digs and sophomore middle front Fiona Rexford with six kills.

Also playing well for the Rams was senior outside Kylie McFadden of Tewksbury and freshman defensive specialist Izzy DiSalvo of Tewksbury.

The Rams visit Lowell Catholic on Friday and then wrap up the regular season next week with home matches on Monday and Wednesday against Essex Tech and Whittier Tech, respectively, before an away match next Friday, Oct. 21 against Greater Lawrence.

CROSS COUNTRY

Last week, the Shawsheen Tech cross country teams competed in a tri-meet in Tyngsborough at Greater Lowell against both Greater Lowell and Nashoba Tech.

Both Ram teams split against the two opponents.

The boys moved their record to 4-1 with a 21-38 victory over the Vikings and a 17-42 loss to the Gryphons.

The girls, now 2-2, also beat Nashoba and lost a close meet against Greater Lowell.

The top finisher for the girls team was Amelia Matzke in 23:54.

Alyssa Costantiello was second for the Rams in 25:13 and Hannah Lyle was third with a time of 26:23.

"We are a young team, but we're improving all the time," Shawsheen coach Dan Dorazio said.

Noah Brooks led the way for the boys in 18:59.

Rounding out the top three Rams was Will Biscan in 19:13 and Ben Hollenbeck with a time of 19:53.

After hosting a quad meet on Wednesday, Oct. 12 against KIPP Academy, Essex Tech and Lynn Tech, the Rams will be back on the course the following Wednesday, Oct. 19 for a home meet against Northeast Regional.

Above, Alyssa Costantiello is all smiles during her race as a member of the Rams Cross-Country team and to the right, Shawsheen's Joe Woodward looks to play a little defense against Gr. Lawrence.

Defense shines as Shawsheen extends Collins Cup title to 23 years

By DOUG HASTINGS
Sports Correspondent

dougahastings@gmail.com

If last Friday night's football game at Shawsheen Tech in Billerica was a boxing match, it would have been a first-round knock-out for the Rams.

"We jumped on them right away," said Shawsheen head coach Al Costabile, who chalked up career coach victory No. 201 with a 36-0 win against visiting Greater Lowell. "The guys played really well."

With the win, Shawsheen retained the coveted Collins Cup, for the 23rd consecutive year. The rivalry, which was played on Thanksgiving morning from 1993-2017 has been a big part of the history of both schools. Thanksgiving morning or not, playing in this game, and especially coming away with a win, always means a great deal to the Shawsheen program.

Sophomore quarterback Sidney Tildsley of Billerica had another outstanding overall performance, figuring in all five Ram scores with three rushing touchdowns, a passing touchdown and a punt return for a score.

Last week in a victory against Greater Lawrence, Tildsley also had an interception return for a touchdown.

While the offense had another productive evening, the Ram defense did its job once again, keeping the Gryphons off the scoreboard for the entire 48 minutes.

"This group of kids, I've had them since they were about seven years old," said Ram assistant coach Brian Tildsley, who took over as Shawsheen's defensive coordinator this season. "Most of this core group we've coached all the way up through (Pop Warner in Billerica) so for me, I was excited. For the last nine years, these kids were always really good defensively."

Coach Tildsley said Shawsheen's front seven has been outstanding through the first five games of the season, helping the Rams to their 5-0 start.

"They're playing unbelievable," said Coach Tildsley. "Al (Costabile) has always had that appreciation for the football/wrestling relationship and out of my eleven (defensive) starters, nine of them are on the wrestling team. I really think that's a factor. Those two sports go hand in hand."

Coach Tildsley admits that while the Ram line isn't the largest around, it might be the quickest and most athletic.

"They're all athletic, they're super-fast, they love to tackle and they're aggressive," the coach said. "All seven guys up front are on the wrestling team and it's very difficult to block us. I would say we're a little bit under-sized, but we're difficult to block because of our team speed."

Greater Lowell (2-3) was coming off a 34-30 victory against Northeast Regional and also defeated Wilmington earlier this year so the Gryphons were no slouch on the offensive side of the football.

"To hold (Greater Lowell) the way we did this year was huge," added Coach Tildsley.

"It's pretty fun right now," coach Tildsley said. "We've been waiting for this for a long time."

In the win over Greater Lowell, Shawsheen took a 7-0 lead six minutes into the game when Sid Tildsley scored on a 10-yard run.

Two minutes later, the sophomore returned a punt 72 yards to the end zone. Sophomore Jack Finn of Billerica kicked the extra point to make it 13-0.

After a Gryphon safety on a punt brought the Ram lead to 15, Shawsheen scored again just before the first quarter ended when Tildsley connected with junior Ryan Copson of Wilmington for a 50-yard scoring connection.

Copson had another solid game for Shawsheen with four catches for 96 yards.

In the second quarter, Sid Tildsley added his second rushing touchdown of the game from nine yards away to make it 29-0.

The Rams added their final points in the third quarter, a 15-yard run by Sid Tildsley.

Finn was 4-for-5 on extra points for Shawsheen.

Tildsley finished the game 8-for-11 passing for 130 yards and added 40 yards rushing.

Ortiz added 38 yards on the ground and junior

Caleb Caceres of Billerica finished with 22 yards rushing.

Senior Mavrick Boudreau of Billerica had three catches for 24 yards and junior Evan Galanis of Tewksbury contributed two rushes for nine yards and a catch for 10 yards.

The next action for the Rams is a home game on Friday night at 6 p.m. against Manchester before a big game the following Friday in Wakefield against Northeast Regional, also at 6 p.m. Manchester enters Friday's game with a 4-1 record with victories over Greater Lowell (34-7) and Whittier Tech already until its belt.

GAME NOTES

•Before the game, a moment of silence was held for long-time Shawsheen football writer Michael Ippolito, who died last week.

•Friday's game will be a matchup of teams ranked No. 1 in the MIAA's power rankings. As of Oct. 7, Shawsheen was the top ranked team in Div. 5. Manchester enters the game as the top team in Div. 8.

•The assistant coaches for Shawsheen threw a surprise party for coach Al Costabile after the game, celebrating Costabile's 200th career victory on the sideline last week in Andover. Costabile became the 55th coach in state history to reach that plateau.

One of Mike Ippolito's stories from 2003

Looking back at Chris Holak's emergence as QB

In last week's issue, Town Crier Sports Editor Jamie Pote did a tribute article on Mike Ippolito, the longtime sports writer who passed away two weeks ago and it was mentioned that we will honor Mike every week but republishing one a different story that he wrote over the past 20 years. In the tribute article, we also mentioned that Mike strived on doing stories on the student-athletes who weren't necessarily the best players on the team. This story below is on Chris Holak, which ran in the October 1, 2003 edition, is a perfect example of that.

It's good to be the starting quarterback. You're the field general, the leader, the captain of the ship. Sure, it comes with a lot of responsibility, and a lot of hard work, but it also comes with a lot of glory. Yes, it most definitely must be good to be a starting quarterback.

Being a backup quarterback on the other hand probably isn't as much fun. You put in the same amount of work, and sometimes more while running the scout offense in practice. On game day, however, you are relegated to the sideline. Often, even in blowout wins when other backups are getting playing time, you remain on the sideline while the starter finishes the game.

Or maybe you get in a few plays near the end of the game. All guts, no glory.

But occasionally, you get your rewards. Occasionally, the backup will have a day like Shawsheen Tech second string quarterback Chris Holak had on Saturday afternoon in the Rams 43-8 rout of Chelsea at Cassidy Field. The junior from Tewksbury entered the game in the second quarter and led the Rams on an 82-yard drive that culminated in a 30-yard touchdown pass to fellow Tewksbury resident Scott Johnson. After turning the reigns back over to starter Mike Gore of Wilmington, Holak was back under center to start the third quarter and he led the Rams to another three points.

"It felt good to get some playing time today," Holak said after the game. "I try to prepare just like everybody else, and I just want to play well when I do get in there."

Holak certainly did play well, and he looked quite comfortable under center. He did see some playing time against Chelsea last season, but Saturday was his first significant playing time at the varsity level. Coach Al Costabile was impressed with his young signal caller.

"I thought he threw the ball very well," Costabile said. "He has made great progress in throwing the ball. He also stands up well in the pocket."

On the touchdown pass to Johnson, Holak showed the pose of a veteran quarterback, improvising on the fly before finding a wide open Johnson for the scoring pass. He hit Johnson square on the numbers at about the ten and then watched as his teammate took it to paydirt.

"It was supposed to be a basic three step drop and throw, but they blitzed, so I had to roll out," Holak said. "Scott was wide open and he is a good player, so he took it to the end zone."

For Holak, who is the starting quarterback with the JV team, it was nice to step up the competition level a notch. Chelsea will certainly not be the toughest opponent the Rams face this season, but for a JV quarterback they certainly provided a different level.

"It definitely helps to get some varsity playing time," Holak said. "Playing JV, there is just not as much competition, so playing at the varsity level lets me see the level of competition that is up here."

Costabile, with an eye toward the future of the program, agreed.

"It was great for Chris to get a reward for all of the hard work he has put in," Costabile said. "For him to get some experience at this level is very important."

For Holak, it was obviously nice to get some varsity playing time, and even nicer to throw a touchdown pass, but he kept his head on straight after the game as to what the win really means to the Rams as a team, and not just him as an individual.

"It definitely helps us out to win this game," Holak said. "It brings our confidence up as we get ready for Whittier next week."

It is statements like that which Costabile and the rest of his coaching staff hopes will help Holak out next year when he takes over for Gore at quarterback. Gore will not be easy to replace, and he is a two-year starter, who also saw playing time in his sophomore year. It will not be easy, but Costabile feels that Holak has the tools to do it.

"I am confident in passing the job on to him next year," Costabile said. "He has improved tremendously this year and he has also developed some good leadership qualities."

One thing is for sure, you won't have to remind Chelsea that Holak can play. Just wait until next year when the rest of the Commonwealth Athletic Conference finds out for themselves.

Former Shawsheen Tech Quarterback Chris Holak before the start of the 2004 season.

Tewksbury's Fifth Grade Football team knocks off undefeated Tantasqua

The Fifth Grade Redmen youth football team played host to the Tantasqua Regional Warriors at Ballou Del-Rossi Field this past Sunday.

Tantasqua came in with an undefeated with a 6-0 record. They left with a 6-1 record after Tewksbury came away with a 38-0 shut out victory.

Tewksbury kicked off to start the game. After a nice return, Tantasqua would start on its own 48 yard line. After three carries for nine yards, the Warriors would decide to go for it on fourth down, only to be met by a gaggle of Tewksbury players stopping the running back a half a yard short of the first down.

Tewksbury would take over on downs. Ryan Wooley would lower his shoulder pads and run a few defenders over for a 35-yard gain on their first offensive play. After a couple penalties backed up the Redmen, David Shunamon would score his first TD of the game, going 31 yards on the reverse play. Wooley ran in the extra point.

Tantasqua had no answers for the Redmen offense on Sunday. Tewksbury would go on to score five more touchdowns. Shunamon would score on a broken play, picking up an offensive fumble and rumbling eight yards into the endzone. Ryan Wooley would run up the middle for a 25-yard touchdown and would follow up with the extra point on his own. Austin Martel would run a fullback dive into the endzone from 36 yards out, breaking numerous tackles on the way.

Ryan Wooley would run a kickoff back 70 yards for a score that would be called back from a block in the back penalty against the Redmen.

That wouldn't stop Wooley though, two series later he would score on a jet sweep from 36 yards out, trucking three would be tacklers on the way to his second touchdown of the game.

Bryce Grant followed a great lead block by David Shunamon and lower his shoulder into the end zone from three yards out. Evan Duran, Josh Olsen and Nick Alessi would all have long runs for the Redmen setting up great field position.

Making big holes for the running backs all game long were Richie Kelley, JJ Sawyer, Nate Panagiotopoulos, Max Sharkey, Jack Lund, Connor Madden, Shane Robitaille, Bryce Grant, Tommy Bjorkgren, with wide receivers Wyatt Kelley and Sean DeChellis throwing some nice downfield blocks to break some big running plays.

The Redmen played this game with high intensity and continually shut down the Warriors offense. Total team effort on defense with the defensive backs taking turns shutting down the pass game early, Josh Olsen, Nick Alessi, Luke Gorman, Tyler Harris, Sean DeChellis and Colton Kephart would all contribute to that.

The defensive line wouldn't budge all day, and the linebackers were making plays all over the field. Tewksbury had numerous players with multiple tackles on the day, Austin Martel, David Shunamon, Ryan Wooley, Bryce Grant, Colton Kephart, Josh Olsen, Jack Lund, JC Rodriguez, Donny Mulligan, Tommy Bjorkgren, Luke Gorman, Connor Madden, JJ Cepeda, and Nolan Marques, with two sacks recorded by Martel and Mulligan.

Nick Alessi would have an interception on the last play of the game to end this one in style. Redmen win 38-0 and hand undefeated Tantasqua their first loss of the season.

Above, running back Evan Duran #27 carries a couple defenders picking up extra yards and below, David Shunamon #39 dives into the end zone for his second touchdown of the day to help the Tewksbury Fifth Grade Football team beat Tantasqua.

Alexander makes mark at forensics tournament

GROVE CITY, PA — The Grove City College Debate Team returned to competition Oct. 4 in the Collegiate Forensics Association's tournament at Bloomsburg University, earning the one and two spots for top speaker and dominating the field by taking three of six team spots.

New to Collegiate Forensics Association competition, the squad had to adjust to some new procedures and styles, but nevertheless maintained its winning ways in a performance that bodes well for the future, debate coach Jason Edwards, professor of History, said.

Grove City College freshmen were included in the varsity bracket, putting them up against more experienced debaters from other schools.

They dominated in team competition, with freshmen pairings Collin Alexander of Wilmington and Savich Chapman taking second place and Calvin Boss and Joshua Xu taking fourth. The team of first-year debater Ginger Schiffmayer and senior Eden Kleiman captured third place.

Alexander was also named the tournament's top speaker with Grove City co-captain Kleiman taking second place.

The team has little time to rest as they prepare for this weekend's International Parliamentary Debate Tournament at Otterbein University in Ohio.

Grove City College (gcc.edu) is a highly distinctive, nationally ranked comprehensive Christian liberal arts college that equips students to pursue their unique callings through a Christ-centered, academically excellent, and affordable learning and living experience. The College is grounded in permanent ideas and traditional values, committed to the foundations of free society, and develops leaders of the highest proficiency, purpose, and principles to advance the common good.

Established in 1876, the College is a pioneer in independent private education and accepts no federal funds. It offers students degrees in more than 60 majors on a picturesque 180-acre campus north of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Accredited by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, Grove City College is routinely ranked as one of the country's top colleges by U.S. News & World Report, The Princeton Review, and others based on academic quality and superior outcomes.

Front Line Initiative and Tewksbury Police host 11th annual overdose vigil

TEWKSBURY — The Front Line Initiative and Tewksbury Police Department would like to invite the community to join them as they hold the 11th annual Tewksbury Overdose Vigil in memory of all those lost to substance use disorder and overdose.

WHEN:
Thursday, Oct. 13; name signing at 5:30 p.m.; name readings at 6:30 p.m.

WHERE:
Tewksbury Recreation Center, 286 Livingston St., Tewksbury
<https://goo.gl/maps/Tr9f-xUutM5AtL3vMA>

WHAT:
Community members are invited to join the Front Line Initiative and Tewksbury Police Department for the town's 11th annual Overdose Vigil to remember those lost to overdose and substance use disorder. Participants are encouraged to bring a photograph of a loved one, and sign a book of names that will be read aloud at 6:30 p.m. to commemorate those lost.

In 2020 in Tewksbury there were 72 overdoses, nine of which were fatal; in 2021 there were 69 overdoses, nine of which were fatal, and so far in 2022 there have been 33 overdoses, five of which were fatal.

"We want to continue to show support for the families who still suffer from the loss of their loved one," said Police Chief Ryan Columbus. "This epidemic runs deep in our nation and what has happened to our communities is a national tragedy."

The Vigil comes just after the Front Line Initiative distributed 42 kits of the overdose-reversing drug Narcan, and trained 45 people to administer the drug during an event at the Tewksbury library on Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Narcan, an opioid antagonist, can quickly reverse the effects of a potentially fatal painkiller or heroin overdose by binding to opioid receptors and reversing or blocking the effects of other opioids, quickly restoring normal breathing. Narcan is not dangerous if administered to a person who is not overdosing and it has no potential to be misused for abuse.

"One of the most effective ways to prevent overdose deaths among the at-risk population of those with substance use disorder is to carry and know how to administer Narcan, which has saved tens of thousands of lives nationwide," said Executive Director Matthew Page-Shelton. "We are pleased we were able to help share the life-saving power of Narcan, and to gather together to remember those lost at this event later this month."

Tewksbury Police continue to provide education, prevention, enforcement and treatment, while working with organizations like the Front Line Initiative to provide resources for those seeking recovery and those in need of outreach.

"Although overdose numbers are trending down from 2017, when there were 98 overdoses and 14 lives lost, we still need to remember the lost and be vigilant as we face the future as a department and as parents," said Chief Columbus. "I hope the community will join us for this very important remembrance."

The selected firm shall have demonstrated previous experience in providing specified services on publicly bid projects in Massachusetts. A complete RFQ may be obtained, without charge, by emailing Paula Mirabella PMirabella@tewksbury-ma.gov. Documents will be available after 11:00 a.m., Thursday October 13, 2022. It is recommended that respondents to this request familiarize themselves with the detailed RFQ.

It is the intent of the Awarding Authority to award a contract within thirty (30) business days after receiving the proposals.

The deadline for submitting proposals to the Tewksbury Town Manager's Office c/o Richard A. Montuori, Town Manager, Tewksbury Town Manager's Office, 1009 Main Street, Tewksbury, MA. 01876 is 11:00 a.m., Friday November 4, 2022.

Overlooked provision of a 2020 zoning reform bill resurfaces...

Stoneham Square redevelopment saved by new special permit voting thresholds

By PAT BLAIS

A Stoneham Square landowner heaved a big sigh of relief last month after town officials realized an overlooked provision of a 2020 zoning reform bill had spared a proposed mixed-use redevelopment of an old catering business.

In August, local mason turned downtown developer Frank Petrillo departed a Planning Board meeting in Town Hall under the impression that his plans to erect a four-story building in the heart of downtown Stoneham had been rejected by the slimmest of margins in a 3-to-1 vote in favor of the project.

However, just weeks later, during a special zoning summit attended by various municipal boards, Town Counsel Robert Galvin ruled the planners had technically granted the special permit thanks to a loosening of voting standards for certain types of housing projects.

As a result, Petrillo's project, which will replace the old single-story Smokey's Longhorn Cafe building at 371 Main Street with a new brick-faced building with ground-floor commercial space and nine upper story apartments, can move ahead as hoped.

"Section 9 of Mass. General Law Chapter 40A states special permits require a two-thirds vote [in the affirmative]. But this is a circumstance where a special permit can be granted by a majority vote," Galvin explained at the special gathering.

Affirming the town lawyer's opinion at a subsequent meeting in Town Hall last month, Planning Board Chairman Frank Vallarelli explained that under normal circumstances, the minimum four-member supermajority standard would have applied even though one board member had recused himself from the deliberations.

However, thanks to the 2020 "Act Enabling Partnerships for Growth", a zoning reform bill quietly passed by the state Legislature during the first year of the COVID-19 pandemic, multi-family and mixed-use housing projects by public transportation centers and downtown areas now only require a majority vote to pass.

Stoneham is hardly the first community to be surprised by the new voting standards, which also apply to proposed zoning amendments effecting multi-family housing.

Specifically, back in August of 2021, some members of Woburn's City Council were blindsided by the reduced voting threshold while considering Fairfield Residential's plans to construct a 445-unit apartment complex by Anderson Regional Transportation Center.

Stoneham FROM A-8

As explained in a memo at the time from Woburn City Solicitor Ellen Callahan Doucette, the pro-housing legislation applied to the 316 New Boston Street project because it is being erected by a major commuter rail station.

"[The petitioner's attorney] is correct in that when a special permit petition is filed for the development 'multifamily housing that is located within 1/2 mile of a commuter rail station, subway station, ferry terminal or bus station'...the special permit requires only a simple majority for approval," the city lawyer forewarned.

Given other controversial elements included in the 2020 zoning reform package, which is also sometimes referenced as the "MBTA Communities" or "Housing Choice" bill, its likely the legislation will continue to gain notoriety.

Notably, the less stringent voting standard proved quite controversial in Woburn, as Mayor Scott Galvin and the City Council had in early 2020 revised local zoning regs to halt the development of large-scale housing projects along the Commerce Way corridor.

In light of that deliberate action by Woburn officials to slow down the pace at which new apartment complexes are being built, critics have labeled the legislation as gutting the long-established right of cities and towns to shape the economic character of their communities through zoning controls. Meanwhile, proponents of the new pro-housing zoning mandates insist change is needed in order to solve the state's woefully inadequate supply of affordable housing options.

Involving the construction of fewer than 10 new apartments, the recently designed Stoneham Square redevelopment will hardly solve the town's housing crisis. However, Petrillo's proposal - though opposed by a number of residential abutters - does enjoy widespread support given the project's nexus to Stoneham Square.

Enjoying a stellar reputation for his masonry work, Petrillo launched his first foray in the development and real estate management industry in August of 2007, when he purchased Stoneham Square's old Highland Printing shop at 411 Main Street and proposed constructing a new four-story building with ground-floor commercial space and 21 upper-story apartments.

Though the project languished for several years due to the Great Recession, the downtown merchant has been heralded for sticking with the project and finishing the construction of a new brick-faced building in 2013.

The local businessman has promised to construct a similar caliber redevelopment at the old 5,940 square foot catering business, which the petitioner purchased in March of 2021 for $675,000.

HomeNewsHere RECIPE

STILL TIME TO GRILL - A zesty honey-mustard basting sauce brings out the terrific taste of sirloin steak, bell pepper and mushrooms. Don't put your grill away just yet. There are plenty of days left to barbecue this Fall.

STEPS

1. Heat coals or gas grill for direct heat.

2. Cut beef into 24 one-inch pieces. Thread beef, bell pepper and mushrooms alternately on each of eight 10- to 12-inch metal skewers, leaving space between each piece. Mix remaining ingredients.

3. Cover and grill kabobs 4 to 6 inches from medium heat 15 to 18 minutes, turning and brushing kabobs 3 or 4 times with oil mixture, until beef is desired doneness and vegetables are tender.

EXPERT TIPS

If you prefer chicken, use boneless, skinless chicken breasts or chicken thighs, cut into 1-inch pieces, for the steak. Grill until no longer pink in center.

Leaving about a 1/4-inch space between pieces of food on the skewers allows for even cooking.

Ingredients

- 1 pound beef boneless top sirloin steak
- 1 medium bell pepper, cut into 16 one-inch wedges
- 16 medium mushrooms
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh or 1 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
- 1 tablespoon honey mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Lynnfield linguist Alma Barozzi publishes book on surnames

Lynnfield linguist Alma Barozzi has authored a book that explores the evolution of surname patterns on the European continent from the dawn of inheritable family names. Framed within the field of onomastics - the study of the history and origin of names - What Kind of Name is That? European Surnames: Meanings and Traditions examines not only the geography and linguistic character of a people, but also the effects of its history, including migration patterns, conquests, power dynamics, on national borders and cultural identities, and ultimately, on naming traditions.

Barozzi's journey through surnames begins in southern Europe with Italy and moves through Western Europe, then from the British Isles eastward through Scandinavia, the Baltic States, and finally southward through Eastern Europe and the Balkan Peninsula. It begins and ends on the shores of the Mediterranean, making stops in countries whose peoples speak a variety of mostly Indo-European languages (Roman, Germanic, Slavic, Greek) sprinkled with several non-Indo-European tongues. She plans to follow up with books about surnames in other parts of the world.

What Kind of Name is That? European Surnames: Meanings and Traditions is available in paperback and on Kindle from Amazon.

New England Woodcarvers Annual Spirit Of Wood Show And Competition 2022

The New England Woodcarvers Annual Spirit Of Wood Show And Competition 2022 will be held on Sunday, October 16th at The Woburn Senior Center, 144 School Street.

This show and competition brings together men and women from all over the New England region to meet and share the work they have been doing since the previous year. The website (newc.org) features photographs of some of the winning entries from previous years including birds, living and extinct, fish, snakes and imaginative creatures, caricatures of Vikings, ball players and cowboys, turnings and wood bark spirits. More than 150 hand carved works of wood art will be on display in October of this year following the competition on Sunday, the 16th, which is open to the public from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. The public is encouraged to wander through the exhibit space. Tickets will be available for purchase at the door. In addition to the show, the public will have an opportunity to talk with vendors about the tools of the craft, participate in a raffle of hand carved items donated by the competitors as well as a separate selection of more valuable prizes, including a Vizio 24" smart television!

Woodcarving clubs and individual woodcarvers are encouraged to visit the our website. Registration forms for clubs, vendors and competitors are available with just a click of a finger. Competitors can find forms at <http://www.newc.org> to register their artworks online prior to Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning of the competition. There are five levels which range from "I never carved anything before this" to "I have expertise and experience winning competitions" or, as the registration form says: youth, novice, intermediate, open and master. High school students are invited to enter their work under the youth level. If a carver is not sure what level there carving is when they register, experts will be on site to help suggest the appropriate level. Competitors must print and bring two copies of the registration form with them to submit at the door.

Vendors of all manner of carving supplies, including wood, will be onsite. MDI of Maine will again be there. Classes are being planned to give registered carvers a chance to learn more about different aspects of their art.

oni to share their contact information — 978-447-2296 for Cavanaugh, and 978-447-4404 for Mirrioni. Cavanaugh also mentioned that folks can call the police department, fire department, or central dispatch; use the town website; or stop into the lobby to contact them.

Their last appointment that night was given to Reading Municipal Light Department Interim General Manager Greg Phipps, who explained the need to increase generation by RMLD within their territory while also maximizing reliable, low-cost, non-carbon energy. In doing this, their future plans included carefully monitoring substation 5 in Wilmington to keep it reliable and building a new substation and storage facility in town. While they had just closed on 326 Ballardvale with an original plan of building the substation there, they'd be repurposing it if possible for the energy storage instead and seeking another property on Route 125 town-owned land for the new substation. The board discussed the difficulties of using Chapter 97 land and staying clear of the town's aquifer. Phipps replied that he recognizes the tradeoffs but wants to make the best use of the land.

Phipps' last idea that he brought to the board was to potentially install solar panels at the Maple Meadow Landfill. "Solar is a great thing to put on top of a landfill," he said. "We're probably one of very few entities willing to own this land." He shared that he had begun seeking the guidance of Olin, Mass DEP, and the town consultants to move this forward. As far as RMLD was concerned, this would be taking negative land and reusing it for something more positive, while also saving them money in generating energy. He couldn't guarantee that Wilmington customers would see a change in their bills, but he did say that there'd be downward pressure on their service costs.

To settle any confusion, Town Manager Jeff Hull established that he believed the land to be covered in material over the landfill, as required by DEP. Phipps also said that this landfill primarily contains contaminated dirt. The board's concerns about the complicated process were assuaged by Phipps' assurance that Mass DEP and the town's legislators had encouraged RMLD to continue their efforts.

Hull delivered updates on the new Wildwood project and the current Wildwood building study via memos to the board. Firstly, he detailed the process for a subcommittee of the Wildwood Building Committee to hire an Owner's Project Manager. As for the Wildwood Building Study, he shared that the cost of the different configuration options range from $5.3 million to over $17 million.

Superintendent Dr. Glenn Brand added that the recommendation from the Wildwood Building Committee would be delivered at one of their meetings in November. He also clarified that public comments at the School Committee meeting which are relevant to the agenda can be made regardless of whether the resident has signed up in advance to comment.

Another note from Hull to the board discussed updates from the MBTA, whom he said displayed a trend in deficiencies decreasing. According to the MBTA, out of seven incidents in August and September, three involved vehicles striking the crossing arms, one involved a crossing arm remaining horizontal while a freight car idled, and two involved minor repairs. The other didn't appear to have any defect. O'Connell commented that the MBTA has been responsive and cooperative.

Hull's final memo pertained to Seurat Technologies sending a letter of intent to participate in the Massachusetts Economic Development Program for tax incentives. One other memo that night came from Town Clerk Beth Lawrenson asking interested parties in the seat on the Finance Committee opening up to contact her with any relevant information or questions.

The board also approved the warrant for the Special Town Meeting, which would list the total amount of money that the town would appropriate from free cash and borrow for both the senior center and the town hall/school administration building in the motions.

The board will next meet on October 24th at 7pm.

Senior Center to 'shape community' squared away," he said. In doing so, he referenced a proposed $5 million temporary renovation to the Wildwood, to which O'Connell replied that this number hadn't been confirmed. She also called out the fact that the town did not have any land for the fire substation currently. DePalma later suggested that the town has been talking about but not acting on the idea for a fire substation since 1962.

Hull took a moment to speak to two premises: that the town administration could work remotely, and that the town has simply let its buildings deteriorate. He established that there is value to a physical presence with departments like recreation, and the town's annual budget at town meeting is constantly tapped into to improve the elementary schools.

The board allowed public comment at that time, and residents spoke mostly against the town hall/school admin building. The first, a representative from the Parent and Guardian Advocates for Wilmington, MA Schools, proposed that this plan also address the short term and long term needs at the Wildwood School. The second resident in attendance questioned whether the town has really thought long-term about all of the schools needing updates together instead of taking projects one at a time. Hooper in turn referenced the Facilities Master Plan which looked at every building and when it could be renovated. Select board member Kevin Caira also vouched for the depth and thoughtfulness of the FMP, which is available online.

Another commenter asked fellow residents not to be surprised when it costs another $200 million to update the other elementary schools in town. The last commenter stated the opinion that the schools should be the top priority now, especially considering that property values are tied to the state of schools. She maintained that voting down the new town hall/school admin building doesn't devalue the work of town hall or school administration employees.

O'Connell clarified that the work done so far was a direct result of Town Meeting approval for a feasibility study. She also mentioned that the board recognizes the town's need to invest in its schools and keep students out of hazardous situations. She invited residents to attend the Special Town Meeting on November 19th and bring their feedback and opinions on these projects there.

'Amsterdam' wastes incredible talent on a dull story

By MARK KENNEDY
AP Entertainment Writer

The stars appear one after the other — a banquet of talent, a glut of inventiveness — and yet nothing clicks. Hollywood's most famous squirm in a slog.

Welcome to "Amsterdam," writer and director David O. Russell's answer to the question: Can some of the top actors in the world manage to elevate poor material? The answer is a dull no. It becomes a slaughterhouse.

Just look at this lead cast: Christian Bale, Margot Robbie and John David Washington. Russell wastes them with pointless dialogue and tedious scenes.

Then imagine a second tier of roles with Alessandro Nivola, Anya Taylor-Joy, Chris Rock, Michael Shannon, Mike Myers, Taylor Swift, Zoe Saldana, Rami Malek and Robert De Niro. All are left powerless. They are in a charisma-removal machine.

Bale and Washington play World War I veterans and fierce friends — soldiers who crossed the racial divide in France — and Robbie plays an inventive nurse who treats them. This bonded trio stumble onto a plot to overthrow the U.S. government while being framed for murder in 1930s New York.

It uses these three fictional characters to explore a real event in the runup to the Second World War in which a cabal of wealthy American businessmen conspired to overthrow President Franklin D. Roosevelt by duping a retired general popular among veterans into being their figurehead.

"Amsterdam" shifts from 1933 to 1918 as it fills out backstories and love affairs. After returning to the '30s, Bale has become a kindly doctor and Washington's character becomes a lawyer, both helping fellow vets. The nurse is strung out on prescription drugs.

But unable to find a tone — screwball, noir, whodunit, rom-com, satire or thriller — the film plods along at its own airless, internal pace, leaving most of the actors so befuddled it's not always clear they know what they're aiming at either.

It's a film where no one seems to answer a direct question, gruesome autopsies are performed on camera followed by whimsically sung ditties, and a script that tries for the profound when it says things like people "follow the wrong God home."

"This is so strange," says the good doctor at one point. "What does it mean?" Don't ask us.

"Amsterdam" reaches for something contemporary to say about race relations, concentration of wealth, veterans and fascism but ends up with a plodding, mannerist noise. This is what dollar bills must smell like burning. One starts to wonder if it was all a tax write-off.

Take Bale, who already reached his glass-eye limit onscreen when he starred in "Big Short." Somehow he agreed to another such role, this time with the eyeball popping out numerous times and spilling on the ground. He attacks his role with a weird "Columbo" thing going, tilting angularly and adopting a rich New York accent.

Washington and Robbie have apparently chosen to ignore Bale's lead by acting as if they are in two separate and different movies — she plays a manic pixie artist who uses shrapnel to make sculptures and he makes his character stone-faced and passive. Everyone else seems to be badly mimicking old '30s films. (Swift sings at one point but otherwise she is marooned and wooden.)

It's not just the cast that is taken down: Emmanuel Lubezki, a celebrated director of photography who wowed with "Gravity" and "The Revenant," turns in a film that seems very brown and undynamic.

Russell, the director of such taut dramas as "Three Kings" and "American Hustle," has clearly vanished here. You can almost hear the collective rejoinder from the real city of Amsterdam: Why'd you do us dirty, man?

"Amsterdam," a 20th Century Studios release exclusively for movie theaters starting Friday, is rated R for brief violence and bloody images. Running time: 134 minutes. No stars out of four.

MPAA definition of R: Restricted. Under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.

Middlesex Fells Reservation hosts 'Archaeology Month'

In honor of Archaeology Month 2022, join the Department of Conservation and Recreation for a Spot Pond Archaeological Walking Tour with Jonathan Ruane, DCR Archaeology Assistant, on Friday, October 21st.

Explore the history and archaeological resources of Middlesex Fells Reservation.

Spot Pond was a focal part of colonial development of this region of Massachusetts and appeared on one of the first maps sent back to Europe. As factories replaced farming in the early 19th century, the site became an industrial center focused on the production of shoes and new technologies in the manipulation and use of rubber with players Nathaniel Hayward and Charles Goodyear, and the Converse shoe brand.

The talk will also include recovered artifacts and the stories they tell.

Rain cancels. Dress for the weather and wear appropriate footwear for hiking. For ages 12+ years.

All programs are free and open to the public. Bring water. Wear sturdy closed toe shoes. Consider sunscreen. An adult must accompany children. Inclement weather cancels
